Local Commons and Democratic Environmental Governance Takeshi Murota, Ken Takeshita, 2013 The rising tide of globalization poses a direct threat to the viability of small communities worldwide Such communities however are our greatest hope for sustainable environmental governance as they possess unparalleled ability to directly manage common pool resources Providing a much needed antidote in this age of globalization this volume advances the idea of collaborative governance as an integration of open and closed commons Taking into consideration the dimension of conflict resolution it studies examples of governance structures in various countries around the world to develop a new type of democracy towards multilevel environmental governance that involves the public private and commons spheres With contributions from researchers in a wide variety of disciplines this volume demonstrates through institutional and empirical analyses the essential role of local commons in providing an axis of resistance to increasing environmental devastation and social inequality towards creating a sustainable future for local communities as well as society at large
