

Color Blind Test

This Color Blind Test is designed to facilitate the accurate assessment of color vision deficiencies. It includes detailed instructions on how to conduct the test using a series of specially designed test plates and record the results effectively.

Preparation for Testing

- Print Page 1 of this template on high-quality, neutral, non-glossy paper to ensure color accuracy.
- Cut out each plate using the cut-out borders as a guide.
- Conduct the test in a well-lit room with natural daylight to avoid color distortion from artificial lighting.
- Arrange seating and the presentation area to maintain a consistent distance and angle for viewing the test plates.

Administering the Test and Evaluating Results

- Present each test plate to the subject one at a time.
- Allow the subject approximately 5 seconds to view each plate before moving on to the next.
- Ensure each plate is presented at a consistent angle and distance from the subject.
- Use Page 2 to record the subject's responses.
- After administering all plates, compare the subject's responses against the correct answers in the Answer Key found on Page 2.
- Record any discrepancies in the Remark section to assess the pattern of errors, which helps identify specific types of color blindness.

Disclaimer: This test is a screening tool and should not be used as a definitive diagnostic tool. Professional consultation is recommended for a formal diagnosis.

The Color Blind Detective

Bill Capron

The Color Blind Detective:

The Color-Blind Detective Bill Capron, 2009-07 C B Green has a unique perspective of the world This Portland Oregon private detective is color blind But he doesn't let this detail stop him from doing his job and doing it well He's a good guy he's known as someone who never lies never cheats and never steals And now being a good guy he takes on more cases than usual His first client Jane Wye wants C B to recover the twenty million dollars her lawyer husband Jack stashed away before someone put a bullet in his head Along the way C B picks up two unintended clients The first is Marion Edmunds an old woman who volunteers at the public library She knows she saw a crime that no one else believes happened The second client is a dead girl seventeen year old Jessica Long Her dying words to C B were Help me At the outset it appears that these three cases have nothing in common But soon C B discovers that these jobs are connected by a personification of evil so vile that it tests the bounds of his unique justice

The Colorblind Screen Sarah E. Turner, 2014-04-04 The election of President Barack Obama signaled for many the realization of a post racial America a nation in which racism was no longer a defining social cultural and political issue While many Americans espouse a colorblind racial ideology and publicly endorse the broad goals of integration and equal treatment without regard to race in actuality this attitude serves to reify and legitimize racism and protects racial privileges by denying and minimizing the effects of systematic and institutionalized racism In The Colorblind Screen the contributors examine television's role as the major discursive medium in the articulation and contestation of racialized identities in the United States While the dominant mode of televisual racialization has shifted to a colorblind ideology that foregrounds racial differences in order to celebrate multicultural assimilation the volume investigates how this practice denies the significant social economic and political realities and inequalities that continue to define race relations today Focusing on such iconic figures as President Obama LeBron James and Oprah Winfrey many chapters examine the ways in which race is read by television audiences and fans Other essays focus on how visual constructions of race in dramas like 24 Sleeper Cell and The Wanted continue to conflate Arab and Muslim identities in post 9/11 television The volume offers an important intervention in the study of the televisual representation of race engaging with multiple aspects of the mythologies developing around notions of a post racial America and the duplicitous discursive rationale offered by the ideology of colorblindness

Color Blind Jonathan Santlofer, 2005-10-25 Kate McKinnon is back and this time it's personal When two hideously eviscerated bodies are discovered and the only link between them is a bizarre painting left at each crime scene the NYPD turns to former cop Kate McKinnon the woman who brought the serial killer the Death Artist to justice Having settled back into her satisfying life as art historian published author host of a weekly PBS television series and wife of one of New York's top lawyers Kate wants no part of it But Kate's sense of tranquility is shattered when this new sequence of murders strikes too close to home With grief and fury to fuel her she rejoins her former partner detective Floyd Brown and his elite homicide squad on the hunt for a vicious psychopath known as the Color Blind
