Temperament in Context Theodore D. Wachs, Robert R. McCrae, Geldolph A. Kohnstamm, 2001-03 This book reviews the roots of temperament in psychosocial contexts that moderate biological influences as well as the influences of temperament on behavior in various settings Written by leading developmental researchers it examines the possible

Temperament and Child Development in Context Liliana J. Lengua, Maria A. Gartstein, Qing Zhou, Craig R. Calder, Debra T. Jacques, 2024-11-28 Children's temperament is a central individual characteristic that has significant implications directly and indirectly for their social emotional behavioral cognitive and health outcomes through its evocative and moderating effects on other social and contextual influences Accounting for these contextual influences is critical to articulating the role of temperament in children's development This Element defines temperament and describes its roots in neurobiological systems as well as its relevance to children's developmental outcomes with a focus on understanding the influence of temperament in children's social and environmental contexts It covers key developmental periods situating the contribution of temperament to children's development in complex and changing processes and contexts from infancy through adolescence The Element concludes by underscoring the value of integrating contextual relational and dynamic systems approaches and pointing to future directions in temperament research and application

Explorations in Temperament Jan Strelau, Alois Angleitner, 2013-11-11 The growing interest in research on temperament during the last decade has been recorded by several authors e.g. R. Plomin, J. E. Bates from such sources of information as the Social Sciences Citation Index or Psychological Abstracts The editors inquiry shows that the number of cases in which the term temperament was used in the title of a paper or in the paper's abstract published in Psychological Abstracts reveals an essential increase in research on temperament During the years 1975 to 1979 the term temperament was used in the title and or summary of 173 abstracts i.e. 34.6 publications per year during the next five years 1980-1984 it was used in 367 abstracts 73.4 publications per year whereas in the last five years 1985 to 1989 the term has appeared in 463 abstracts that is in 92.6 publications per year Even if the review of temperament literature is restricted to those abstracts it can easily be concluded that temperament is used in different contexts and with different meanings hardly allowing any comparisons or general statements One of the consequences of this state of affairs is that our knowledge on temperament does not cumulate despite the increasing research activity in this field This situation in temperament research motivated the editors to organize a one week workshop on The Diagnosis of Temperament Bielefeld Federal Republic of Germany September 1987
