The Big Story:

The Aesthetics of Solidarity Nichole M. Flores, 2021 Latinx Catholics have used Our Lady of Guadalupe as a symbol in democratic campaigns ranging from the United Farm Workers movement to the Chicano movement to the movement for just immigration reform In diverse ways these groups use Guadalupe's symbol and narrative to make claims about justice in society's basic structures law policy institutions for example while seeking to generate greater participation and representation in US democracy Yet Guadalupe is illegible within a liberal political framework that seeks to protect society's basic structures from religious encroachment by relegating religious speech practices and symbols to the realm of the background culture In response to this problem religious ethicists have argued for expansions of the liberal framework that would make religious language arguments and practices communities legible within a pluralistic society without capitulating to anti democratic modes of governance that undermine pluralism What remains unexplored is the way that the aesthetic dimensions of particular religious traditions can be engaged toward cultivating a more participatory democracy that invites substantive contributions to society's common life from religious people and communities Instead in conversation with political liberalism Latinx theological aesthetics and Catholic social thought The Aesthetics of Solidarity examines the use of particular religious symbols to make democratic claims and generate greater participation and presence in the life of US democracy After evaluating liberalism's capacity for constructive engagement with religion toward strengthening democratic participation the project employs Latinx theological aesthetics and Catholic social thought to offer a constructive framework for interpreting religious symbols in the context of a religiously pluralistic and participatory democratic life Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Hazardous Future Isabel Capeloa Gil, Christoph Wulf, 2015-03-30 Since culture the media and the arts deal with the perception and the processing of catastrophe what kind of social knowledge does this process produce and how does it contribute to the sustainable development of societies The book seeks to understand how societies and cultures deal with disaster and the rhetorical means they resort to in order to represent it It is situated on the cusp between the response to natural catastrophe the renewed awareness of human vulnerability in the face of environmental hazard and irresponsible policies and the social role of traditional knowledge and humanistic ideas for the preservation of human communities It aims to be diverse in disciplinary allegiance and cultural situation and relevant by bringing together articles by well known scholars and policy makers to jointly discuss the possibilities of reframing hazard for the future so that one may learn from restored behavior instead of repeating the mistakes of the past
