The Changing United Nations:

The Changing United Nations Inis L. Claude (Jr.),1967 A Changing United Nations W. Knight,2000-10-19 The United Nations is at a critical juncture It is faced with two distinct choices to remain a decision frozen in time or to develop a long term adaptation agenda and strategy that would allow it to be a relevant institution of global governance for the twenty first century Reform and reflexive institutional adjustments have failed to address underlying problems facing this organization After fifty five years of existence it is still considered an inefficient and ineffective world body Worse yet its relevance is being questioned This study offers a critique of existing UN change processes and then shifts focus to considerations of institutional learning strategies that would allow the UN to maintain relevance amidst the evolution of global governance arrangements The Changing United Nations David A. Kay,1977 A Better United Nations for the New Millennium Kamil Idris,Michael Bartolo,2000-01-01 The former President of South Africa H E Nelson Mandela states in the Foreword that the debate on the reform of the United Nations System must move beyond the costeffectiveness efficiency issues to that of relevance The President of Malta H E Guido de Marco a former President of the General Assembly in the Preface calls for a reform that requires not merely tinkering with the institutional set up of the Organization but rather a reorientation of the principles projected in the Charter so as to enable them to be applied to current realities The authors respond by giving a blueprint for a relevant United Nations more in line with the Charter emphasizing wider participation in its work the supremacy of its General Assembly This is followed by a vision of a United Nations supported by an Administrative Committee on Coordination ACC transformed into a Policy Coordination Board PCB that would bring out the best in a United Nations System that would include in addition to the Specialized Agencies the Bretton Woods Institutions the World Trade Organization WTO other global regional subregional organizations which share the same objectives of peace security fair equitable development for all the peoples of the world The Changing United Nations Inis L. Claude,1969

The Evolving United Nations: a Prospect for Peace? Kenneth J. Twitchett,1971 Collection of essays on new trends in the activity and role of UN in international relations in international cooperation and in the maintenance of peace includes a paper on the role of UK in the UN the text of the UN charter and the UN membership and covers international law and the legal status of the un international economic relations etc Bibliography pp 229 to 239 and references Pragmatic Liberal Approach To World Order Nejat Dogan,2012-12-18 There are two well known approaches to the study of international relations Realism and Idealism This book explores the writings of Inis L Claude Jr a preeminent scholar on international relations to define a third approach Pragmatic liberalism an in between approach argues that a liberal world order can be sustained and promoted by the pragmatic application of liberal principles It rejects both the over pessimism of Realism and the over optimism of Idealism while refusing to maintain that the anarchic nature of the international system is unchangeable or even that we can change it overnight However it is possible to eventually improve the international system This melioristic approach to world order and international relations can be explained through the sophisticated writings of Inis L. Claude Jr who has remained a celebrated scholar and an example to students of international relations everywhere for over a half century
