These Sad But Glorious Days Dispatches:

These Sad But Glorious Days Margaret Fuller, 1991-01-01 Margaret Fuller journalist critic radical feminist and political activist traveled in Europe between 1846 and 1850 as a foreign correspondent for the New York Tribune Her letters from England France and Italy which began as engaging travel sketches soon became moving accounts of the most widespread revolutionary upheaval within modern history These dispatches are now reproduced in their entirety for the first time Fuller met important political figures wherever she traveled including those who became leaders in the revolutions and she actively allied herself with the republican cause Her letters describe how from her apartment in Rome she saw the November 1848 attack on the Quirinal Palace which precipitated the Pope's flight from the city and the establishment of the Roman Republic headed by her friend Giuseppe Mazzi how she and the Romans who included her lover Giovanni Ossoli a captain in the Civic Guard suffered through the June 1849 siege and bombardment of Rome by the French army sent to restore the Pope and how as director of a hospital on Tiber Island she nursed the wounded who fell in the defense of the city The dispatches edited and annotated by Larry J Reynolds and Susan Belasco Smith are introduced by an essay explaining the historical and professional context in which the letters were written

Traveling to Unknown Places Lloyd S. Kramer, 2024-09-24 Traveling to Unknown Places presents a compelling incisive analysis of how French and American writers reshaped their personal and collective identities as they traveled in foreign countries after the social upheavals of the eighteenth century Atlantic revolutions Delving into the experiences of renowned figures like Flora Tristan and Margaret Fuller alongside lesser known postrevolutionary travelers this book illuminates how cross cultural encounters pushed writers to redefine their views of nationality language race slavery gender religion science and political ideologies Lloyd Kramer deftly demonstrates how unsettling journeys challenged cultural preconceptions and fostered introspective writings that transcended geographical boundaries By interweaving the perspectives of women and men whose travels led them far beyond their youthful social origins Kramer unveils a rich tapestry of evolving selfhood ambition and political consciousness across the Atlantic world Each traveler's experience was unique but long journeys connected all these nineteenth century writers with others who had traveled before and trips into unknown distant cultures also carried travelers toward previously unknown places within themselves

Legacy of a Southern Lady: Ann Ratliff Russell, 2018-05-19 Anna Calhoun Clemson was John C Calhoun's favorite child After reading Ann Russell's biography based on Anna's letters one finds it easy to understand why The product of a famous family and an exceptional woman Anna was also as Russell ably demonstrates very much a southern lady Her story her life's journey as Calhoun told his daughter her life would be gives us a glimpse of an important southern family of southern womanhood of heartbreak and difficulty of a nation torn apart by sectional conflict Like Mary Chesnut's famous diary Anna's letters the crux of Russell's study provide us with a rich detailed picture of southern life both personal and public

Roman Holidays Robert K. Martin, Leland S. Person, 2002 Featuring essays by twelve prominent American literature scholars Roman Holiday explores the tradition of American travel to Italy and makes a significant contribution to the understanding of nineteenth century American encounters with Italian culture and more specifically with Rome The increase in American travel to Italy during the nineteenth century was partly a product of improved conditions of travel As suggested in the title Italy served nineteenth century writers and artists as a kind of laboratory site for encountering Others and other kinds of experience No doubt Italy offered a place of holiday a momentary escape from the familiar but the journey to Rome a place urging upon the visitor a new and more complex sense of history also forced a reexamination of oneself and one's identity Writers and artists found their religious political and sexual assumptions challenged Nathaniel Hawthorne's The Marble Faun has a prominent place in this collection as Henry James commented in his study of Hawthorne the book was part of the intellectual equipment of the Anglo Saxon visitor to Rome The essayists also examine works by James Fuller Melville Douglass Howells and other writers as well as such sculptors as Hiram Powers William Wetmore Story and Harriet Hosmer Bringing contemporary concerns about gender race and class to bear upon nineteenth century texts Roman Holidays is an especially timely contribution to nineteenth century American studies

Willis, 2003 Socrates Virgil Sir Francis Bacon While over time the concept of the great thinker has evolved and redefined itself it has not evolved to formally include women in its exclusive circle of members Conspicuously absent are the names of female great thinkers in intellectual studies despite the skyrocketing interest in the American intellectual and the contribution by women to America's social and intellectual development. So then what does it mean to be an American woman intellectual in the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries? A collection of biographies and writings from the nineteenth century through the present, Voices Unbound speaks to the blatant omission of women from intellectual studies and begins the work of developing a women's intellectual tradition. Lydia Maria Child, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Margaret Mead, Susan Sontag, bell hooks. Voices Unbound reintroduces these remarkable women and their writings to the American public. Thorough and insightful, Voices Unbound is an important book for all those studying American intellectual history and women's history. Review, 1996
