Successful Farming; a Ready Reference on All Phases of Agriculture for Farmers of the United States and Canada Frank Duane Gardner, 1916 Assessing opportunities and constraints for biofuel development in sub-Saharan Africa Graham von Maltitz, William Stafford, 2011-08-24 Sustainable biofuel production should provide opportunities for sub-Saharan African countries and their inhabitants especially in impoverished rural areas Biofuel feedstock production has the potential to bring job opportunities and earnings but this should not be at the cost of existing livelihoods and the local environment Biofuels also have the potential to increase energy security in these countries for both transportation and household needs Sub-Saharan African biofuel feedstock production projects can be classified into 4 distinct models based on production scales small versus large scale farm plantations and on the intended use of the biofuel local versus national The first type embraces large corporate plantations to supply the market for liquid transport fuel blends The second type comprises small scale producers linked to the corporate producers The third type involves small scale producers supplying the local energy needs of farmers and villages The fourth and rarest type is linked to the large corporate plantations to meet the corporation s own energy needs The introduction of foreign owned large scale corporate plantations producing biofuel for transport fuel blends causes the most concern in sub-Saharan Africa as their scale and ownership arrangements may disrupt rural livelihoods and affect access rights to land resources However these projects can also bring job opportunities thereby providing alternative sources of income for poor communities This working paper assesses mechanisms for limiting the negative impacts while maximising national benefit capture Market based mechanisms versus legal and policy mechanisms to enhance long term sustainability are also discussed Successful Farming ,1912 Agricultural Outlook ,1999
