Popular Educator, 1903 Solo for Piano by John Cage, Second Realization, Part 1 David Tudor, 2020-01-01 When I think of music I think of you and vice versa John Cage told David Tudor in the summer of 1951 Looking back years later Cage said that every work he composed in the ensuing two decades was composed for Tudor even if it was not written for the piano Tudor's nominal instrument The collaboration of Cage and Tudor reached an apex in the Solo for Piano from Cage's Concert for Piano and Orchestra 1957-58 None of Cage's previous works had employed more than a single type of notation In contrast the Solo for Piano consists of eighty-four notational types ranging from standard line and staff notation to extravagant musical graphics The notational complexity of the Solo for Piano led Tudor to write out or realize a performance score from which he played at the premiere of the Concert for Piano and Orchestra in May 1958 The next spring when Cage requested music to complement his ninety-minute lecture Indeterminacy Tudor created a second realization for which he devised a new temporal structure to implement Cage's notations This edition of Tudor's second realization of the Solo for Piano presents Tudor's performance score in the spatial-temporal layout of its proportional notation An introductory essay discusses the early collaborations of Cage and Tudor as well as the genesis creative process and performance history of the Solo for Piano The critical commentary examines each of Tudor's methods of realization which notations from Cage's score Tudor selected and why how Tudor interpreted Cage's often ambiguous performance instructions how Tudor distributed the resulting sounds temporally and the ways in which Tudor's realization fulfills transcends and sometimes contravenes the instructions of Cage's score life Here William Fetterman examines the majority of those compositions by Cage which are aural as well as visual in content beginning with his first work in this genre in 1952 and continuing through 1992 Much of the information in this study comes from previously undocumented material discovered among the unpublished scores and notes of Cage and his frequent collaborator David Tudor as well as author's interviews with Cage and with individuals closely associated with his work including David Tudor Merce Cunningham Bonnie Bird Mary Caroline Richards and Ellsworth Snyder
