Textile Industries:

A Profile of the Textile Manufacturing Industry Erin D. Parrish, 2016-06-17 The textile manufacturing industry NAfICS 313 has played an important role in the history of the United States and continues to be a major industrial employer not only in the US but also around the world Textiles are mainly considered a component part of the supply chain with end uses ranging from apparel to home textiles to industrial goods to medical textiles Even though apparel is the largest end use of textiles and has increasingly moved offshore to low cost labor countries there remains a growing textile manufacturing industry in the US for capital and technology intensive products such as nonwovens and those with military end uses The Textile Industry in North Carolina Brent D. Glass, 1992 Author Brent D Glass examines North Carolina's textile industry from its roots in the spinning wheels and handlooms of the colonial and antebellum periods through the massive buy outs consolidations and plant closings of the 1980s Contains more than 50 black and white illustrations and a selected bibliography The World Textile Industry John Singleton, 1997 This book traces how the nature of competition in this sector has evolved during the last two hundred years and how and why the locus of competitive advantage in textiles and apparel has moved from country to country since 1945 Lamb's Textile Industries of the United States E. Everton Foster, 1916 Subject List of Works on the Textile Industries and Wearing Apparel Including the Culture and Chemical Technology of the Textile Fibres in the Library of the Patent Office Great Britain. Sustainability and the Social Fabric Clio Padovani, Paul Whittaker, 2017-09-07 While the topic of sustainability in textile manufacture has been the subject of considerable research much of this is limited to a focus on materials and practices and their ecological impact Padovani and Whittaker offer a unique exploration of the textile industry in Europe from the perspective of social sustainability shifting the focus from the materiality of textile production to the industry's relationships with the communities from which the products originate Featuring six in depth case studies from design entrepreneurs artisans and textile businesses around Europe from Harris Tweed in Scotland to luxury woollen mills in Italy Sustainability and the Social Fabric explores how new centres of textile manufacturing have emerged from the economic decline in 2008 responding creatively and producing socially inclusive approaches to textile production Case studies each represent a different approach to social sustainability and are supported by interviews with industry leaders and comparisons to the global textile industry Demonstrating how some companies are rebuilding the local social fabric to encourage consumer participation through education enterprise health and wellbeing the book suggests innovative business models that are economically successful and also in turn support wider societal issues Essential reading for students of textiles fashion design and related subjects this book will demonstrate how a business ecosystem that focuses on inclusive growth and social innovation can lead to sustained mutual benefit for textile industries and their local communities International Review
