

The main facade of the building is constructed from horizontal wooden planks. On the left, a large window is filled with a collage of posters and notices. To the right of the window is a set of double wooden doors with diamond-shaped panels. Three black lantern-style light fixtures are mounted on the wall above the window. The upper floor of the building is made of red brick and has several windows with dark frames.

A blue awning extends over the entrance area. The text "THE BITTER END" is printed in white on the side of the awning. At the top of the awning, there is a white oval containing the text "THE BITTER END" in blue, with "THE BITTER END" also written in smaller blue letters above it. To the right of the awning, a set of metal stairs leads to an upper level. A person is walking up the stairs. A small chalkboard sign stands at the base of the stairs.

A red sign is mounted above the stairs. It features the word "CASA" in a stylized yellow font with a red outline, and a yellow graphic element resembling a flame or a stylized 'C'.

A white sign is visible in the upper right corner, partially obscured. It contains some text and a graphic, but the details are not clearly legible.
