Unga Kvinnor:

Unge, køn og pornografi i Norden, 2007 Young men's mental ill-health in the Nordics Randell, Eva, Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2023/549> Mental ill health is a significant social and public health problem in the Nordic countries. Studies also show that mental health problems have increased in the Nordic countries in recent years, particularly among young people. According to the studies included in this research overview, there are gender differences when it comes to mental ill health. It is apparent that gender, sexuality and masculinity norms play an important role in how young men manage and experience their mental health. This overview focuses on knowledge about young men's mental health in relation to current conditions and challenges in education and the workplace in the Nordic countries. The study also highlights knowledge about the impacts of the pandemic on young men's mental health, where increased unemployment, distance teaching and isolation have risked reinforcing negative spirals in mental well-being. Sport and the Female Disabled Body Elisabet Apelmo, 2016-10-04 This path-breaking book analyses the experiences of young sporting women with physical impairments. Taking phenomenology as a point of departure, Elisabet Apelmo explores how the young women handle living with a body which on the one hand is viewed as deviant, the disabled body, and on the other hand is viewed as accomplished, the sporting body. A polarization is apparent between the weak, which is manifested through the expression of belonging as we, and the strong individual. The subject position as strong, positive and capable as a reaction towards the weak, the negative is one of the few positions that are available to them. Furthermore, the book demonstrates the strategies of resistance the young women develop against the marginalisation, stereotyping and othering they experience in their everyday lives. Finally, the author discusses the paradox of gender. Disabled bodies are often seen as non-gendered, however, these young women's experiences are structured by both the gender regimes within sports and the larger gender order of the society. Micro-Credit Networking for Women Entrepreneurs in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania Nordic Council of Ministers, 2005 Micro credit networking means so much more than giving a loan to a group of women who want to start a company. Development of business ideas in co-operation with others, training in business, economics, book-keeping etc, advisory services and information from professional advisers. Large? Nordic Council of Ministers, 2009-02 This report examines the relationship between the clothing sizes and the size labeling given in the garments and how the consumers experience it. The research is based on three different sources: a consumer survey, clothing size measurements in shops and in-depth interviews. The data is collected from three Nordic Countries: Finland, Norway and Sweden. The size measurement results and the survey answers indicate that sizing systems are confusing and full of disparities. The European committee for standardization is developing a common European size code for garments, but they have experienced problems in reaching a system that indicates the sizes accurately but still does not get too long and complicated for the consumers to understand or for the manufacturers to use. A common and well-functioning size labeling system would be an advantage to many consumers in particular to groups who find the size labeling insufficient and for the consumers that are not able to try on clothes in the stores themselves We also hope that a better understanding of the relationship between bodies clothes and size labeling will be useful in future discussions due to the growing focus on body and dieting as well as the increased weight of the population And finally a diminishing number of mistake purchases will be beneficial for the environment as it decreases the disposal of textiles
