Up and Down the Cline--the Nature of Grammaticalization Olga Fischer, Muriel Norde, Harry Perridon, 2004-01-01 The basic idea behind this volume is to probe the nature of grammaticalization Its contributions focus on the following questions i In how far can grammaticalization be considered a universal diachronic process or mechanism of change and in how far is it conditioned by synchronic factors ii What is the role of the speaker in grammaticalization iii Does grammaticalization itself provide a cause for change or is it an epiphenomenon i e a conglomeration of causal factors mechanisms which elsewhere occur independently iv If it is epiphenominal how do we explain that similar pathways so often occur in known cases of grammaticalization v Is grammaticalization unidirectional vi What is the nature of the parameters guiding grammaticalization The overall aim of the book is to enrich our understanding of what grammaticalization does or does not entail via detailed case studies in combination with theoretical and methodological discussions

Generating Creative Language - Theories, Practice and Evaluation Mika Hämmäläinen, 2020-10-08 This thesis presents approaches to computationally creative natural language generation focusing on theoretical foundations practical solutions and evaluation I defend that a theoretical definition is crucial for computational creativity and that the practical solution must closely follow the theoretical definition Finally evaluation must be based on the underlying theory and what was actually modelled in the practical solution A theoretical void in the existing theoretical work on computational creativity is identified The existing theories do not explicitly take into account the communicative nature of natural language Therefore a new theoretical framework is elaborated that identifies how computational creativity can take place in a setting that has a clear communicative goal This introduces a communicative creative trade off that sets limits to creativity in such a communicative context My framework divides creativity in three categories message creativity contextual creativity and communicative creativity Any computationally creative NLG approach not taking communicativity into account is called mere surface generation I propose a novel master apprentice approach for creative language generation The approach consists of a genetic algorithm the fitness functions of which correspond to different parameters defined as important for the creative task in question from a theoretical perspective The output of the genetic algorithm together with possible human authored data are used to train the apprentice which is a sequence to sequence neural network model The role of the apprentice in the system is to approximate creative autonomy Evaluation is approached from three different perspectives in this work ad hoc and abstract theory based and abstract and theory based and concrete The first perspective is the most common one in the current literature and its shortcomings are demonstrated and discussed This starts a gradual shift towards more meaningful evaluation by first using proper theories to define the task being modelled and finally reducing the room for subjective interpretation by suggesting the use of concrete evaluation questions

Transitivity, Valency, and Voice Denis Creissels, 2025-01-21 This book explores three central concepts in clausal structure transitivity valency and voice Denis Creissels draws up a novel theoretical and terminological framework to study the considerable cross linguistic variation observed in these phenomena and to compare their manifestations in the grammars of individual languages
