Trading Identities Wally Olins, 1999 Companies and Countries are changing fast and they are becoming more like each other As countries develop their national brands to compete for investment trade and tourism mega merged global companies are using nation building techniques to achieve internal cohesion across cultures and are becoming ever more involved in providing public services like education and health As companies and countries each adopt techniques which have been second nature to the other Wally Olins asks what these cross cutting trends mean for the new balance of global power He explains why global companies are de emphasising nationality but seeking popular legitimacy by talking soft about their social impact and community involvement while governments are increasingly talk about performance indicators and hard statistics

Trading Identities Timothy Charles Hemmis, 2015 Wendat Women's Arts Annette W. De Stecher, 2022-04-15 For centuries women artists of the Wendat First Nation of Wendake in Quebec have created artworks of intricate design and complex meaning in moosehair and quill embroidery Their work records and transmits ancestral knowledge across generations of artists and remains a vibrant and important practice today Breaking new ground in Indigenous art histories Wendat Women's Arts is the first book to bring together a full history of the Wendat embroidery art form Annette de Stecher challenges the historical anonymity of Indigenous women artists by arguing for their central role in community history and ceremony Through their art these women played an important part in the diplomatic strategies that advanced the sovereignty of their nation work that was an extension of their position of authority in their families and clans Chiefs and community members wore finely embroidered attire as a brilliant focus of ceremonial events a tradition that continues today Women artists also supported their community economically as their embroidery was a souvenir of choice for European collectors In vibrant illustrations this book reconstructs the rich repertoire of Wendat embroidery now dispersed in collections throughout the world Wendat Women's Arts combines a depth of historical understanding with a keen knowledge of contemporary Wendat artists demonstrating that the story of Wendat women is one of cultural strength innovation resilience and success

War Imagery in Women's Textiles Deborah A. Deacon, Paula E. Calvin, 2014-06-04 Through the centuries women have used textiles to express their ideas and political opinions creating items of utility that also function as works of art Beginning with medieval European embroideries and tapestries such as the Bayeux Tapestry this book examines the ways in which women around the world have recorded the impact of war on their lives using traditional fabric art forms of knitting sewing quilting embroidery weaving basketry and rug making Works from the United States Canada Latin America Asia the Middle and Near East and Oceania are analyzed in terms of content and utility and cultural and economic implications for the women who created them are discussed Traditional women s work served to document the upheaval in their lives and supplemented their family income By creating textiles that responded to the chaos of war women developed new textile traditions modified old traditions and created a vehicle to express their feelings A Social Theory of the WTO J.
