Live Television Stephanie Marriott, 2007-11-18 The study of television still the most powerful of modern media has long been fascinated by its capacity for liveness Marriott offers an insightful analysis of the complexities of this phenomenon particularly its increasingly vital connection with the use of new media A timely contribution to our understanding of media events 24 hour news and the phenomenology of mediated experience Andrew Tolson De Montfort University In the steps of Marshall McLuhan and Alfred Schutz Stephanie Marriott offers us a timely and sustained reflection upon the nature of mediation and the changing qualities of the live experience made possible by television Elegant lucid witty and thought provoking her account will become a canonical text in television studies Martin Montgomery University of Strathclyde In a fragmenting multichannel and multiplatform global broadcasting environment live television continues to attract huge audiences bucking the trend towards narrowcasting and niche markets yet little of a comprehensive nature has been written about the live television event In this fascinating book Stephanie Marriott engages in a close and detailed analysis of the nature of live television She examines the transformations in our experience of time and space which are brought about by the capacity of broadcasting to bring us the world in the moment in which it is unfolding situating the live television event in the context of an expanding and increasingly complex global communicative framework Building her argument by means of a series of case studies of events as diverse as the assassination of President Kennedy in 1963 the attack on the World Trade Centre in 2001 the 2005 London bombings election night coverage and live sports coverage Marriott provides a meticulous and articulate account of the way in which live television mediates the event for its audience This book will be essential reading for students and academics working in media cultural studies cultural sociology and linguistics and is an exciting new contribution to the field of broadcast talk and media discourse

American and English Railroad Cases, New Series ,1901 Report United States. Interstate Commerce Commission,1960-06-10 Eyewitness Testimony Elizabeth F. Loftus,1996 Every year hundreds of defendants are convicted on little more than the say so of a fellow citizen Although psychologists have suspected for decades that an eyewitness can be highly unreliable new evidence leaves no doubt that juries vastly overestimate the credibility of eyewitness accounts It is a problem that the courts have yet to solve or face squarely In Eyewitness Testimony Elizabeth Loftus makes the psychological case against the eyewitness Beginning with the basics of eyewitness fallibility such as poor viewing conditions brief exposure and stress Loftus moves to more subtle factors such as expectations biases and personal stereotypes all of which can intervene to create erroneous reports Loftus also shows that eyewitness memory is chronically inaccurate in surprising ways An ingenious series of experiments reveals that memory can be radically altered by the way an eyewitness is questioned after the fact New memories can be implanted and old ones unconsciously altered under interrogation These results have important implications for court reform police interrogation methods defense strategy and many other aspects of criminal and civil procedure Eyewitness Testimony is a powerful book that should be required reading for trial lawyers social psychologists and anyone who considers the chilling prospect of confronting an eyewitness accusation in a court of law
