War Ends:

After War Ends Larry May, 2012-04-19 There is extensive discussion in current Just War literature about the normative principles which should govern the initiation of war jus ad bellum and also the conduct of war jus in bello but this is the first book to treat the important and difficult issue of justice after the end of war Larry May examines the normative principles which should govern post war practices such as reparations restitution reconciliation retribution rebuilding proportionality and the Responsibility to Protect He discusses the emerging international law literature on transitional justice and the problem of moving from a position of war and possible mass atrocity to a position of peace and reconciliation He questions the Just War tradition arguing that contingent pacifism is most in keeping with normative principles after war ends His discussion is richly illustrated with contemporary examples and will be of interest to students of political and legal philosophy law and military studies

When War Ends American Academy of Political and Social Science, 1940

War Angelo Codevilla, Paul Seabury, 2006 Author statement reversed from earlier edition

Our War Too Margaret Paton-Walsh, 2002 In the late 1930s a number of American women especially those allied with various peace and isolationist groups protested against the nation's entry into World War II While their story is fairly well known Margaret Paton Walsh reveals a far less familiar story of women who fervently felt that American intervention was absolutely necessary Paton Walsh recounts how the United States became involved in the war but does so through the eyes of American women who faced it as a necessary evil Covering the period between 1935 and 1941 she examines how these women functioned as political actors even though they were excluded from positions of power through activism in women's organizations informal women's networks and even male dominated lobbying groups In the Great Debate over whether America should enter the war some women favored aid to the Allies not because they hoped for war but because they hoped aid would forestall more direct U S involvement but also because they believed war was preferable to a Nazi victory Paton Walsh shows that this activism involved some of the most prominent women of their day Elizabeth Cutter Morrow whose son in law Charles Lindbergh was an isolationist spokesman supported the revision of the Neutrality Acts to allow the sale of arms to the Allies and expressed her support in a national radio broadcast Soon other women joined this debate Esther Brunauer of the AAUW journalist Dorothy Thompson and organizations like the League of Women Voters and National Women's Trade Union League broke from the pacifist tradition to advocate American aid for the Allied cause Focusing on the conflict in Europe Paton Walsh shows how these women grasped the implications of the Lend Lease program for America's entry into the war but supported it nevertheless By late 1941 the Women's Division of the Fight for Freedom Committee had been established no longer merely advocating aid to Britain to keep American boys out of battle this organization supported direct American involvement in the war as a means of stopping Nazi oppression While most historians have focused on women's pacifism Paton Walsh connects women more directly to world events and shows how those interventionists reformulated maternalist ideas to justify and explain their beliefs Our War Too is a story of American women trying to reconcile the irreconcilable to preserve both their principles and their peace It expands our understanding of women as political actors and thinkers about foreign policy as it sheds new light on American public opinion over the build up to the war What Makes a War End? Harold Augustin Calahan,1944 Transactions Society of Automotive Engineers,1916 How War Ends Sydney Dawson Bailey,1982 The War in Cartoons ,1914 The Fortnightly ,1915 The American Artisan and Hardware Record ,1918 Our Navy, the Standard Publication of the U.S. Navy ,1919 The Indian History of the Modoc War Jeff C. Riddle,1914 Author was the son of a Modoc woman Winema and Kentucky born miner Frank Riddle both of whom played a large role in negotiations during the Modoc War This book gives a Native American but still pro white point of view Great Britain and the East ... ,1917 Stationery World and Printing and Allied Trades ,1917 Quarterly Bulletin California Conference of Social Work,1918 Commercial America ,1918 Daily Stories of Pennsylvania Frederic Antes Godcharles,1924 The Saturday Evening Post ,1914 Public Service Training Notes United States.
