War Reporting For Cowards:

War Reporting for Cowards Chris Ayres, 2006-06-07 The story of one of the most fascinating women of all time Maria Eva Duarte who rose from poverty to become one of the richest most powerful women in the world

War Reporting for Cowards Chris Ayres, 2007-12-01 Imagine George Costanza from Seinfeld being sent off to cover the Iraq War Hilarious Michiko Kakutani The New York Times Chris Ayres is a small town boy a hypochondriac and a neat freak with an anxiety disorder Not exactly the picture of a war correspondent But when his boss asks him if he would like to go to Iraq he doesn't have the guts to say no After signing a one million dollar life insurance policy studying a tutorial on repairing severed limbs and spending twenty thousand dollars on camping gear only to find out that his bright yellow tent makes him a sitting duck Ayres is embedded with a battalion of gung ho Marines who either shun him or threaten him when he files an unfavorable story As time goes on though he begins to understand them and his inexplicably enthusiastic fellow war reporters more and more Each night of terrifying combat brings in the morning something more visceral than he has ever experienced the thrill of having won a fight for survival War Reporting for Cowards tells with self deprecating wit the story of Iraq in a way that is extraordinarily honest and bitterly hilarious The New Yorker Heartbreakingly funny Anthony Swofford author of Jarhead Chris Ayres has invented a new genre a rip roaring tale of adventure and derring don't Toby Young author of How to Lose Friends and Alienate People Darkly entertaining Los Angeles Times Ayres's stories of life with Marines are gripping in part because he's the perfect neurotic foil People

War Reporting and Justice Slavko Gajevic, 2019-03-21 This book explores how journalists understand and interpret justice in their coverage of wars Its deep analysis of war reporting offers a new understanding of modern multicultural societies in times of conflict In particular it explores how the Yugoslav conflicts of the 1990s gave birth to the modern notion of the transnational community The text provides new theoretical concepts in order to better understand media work during times of war and offers new definitions of conflict and the transnational community as an authority of normative criteria for justice Furthermore it details a new model for the analysis of media texts with step by step guidelines and examples that will be very useful for media educators journalism teachers and students of journalism The book's novel approach to understanding justice during a times of conflict will also be valuable for journalists who cover armed conflicts

The War Correspondent Greg McLaughlin, 2016-02-20 What is the role of the war reporter today Through interviews with prominent war and foreign correspondents such as John Pilger Robert Fisk Mary Dejevsky and Alex Thomson The War Correspondent delves into the most dangerous form of journalism From Crimea to Vietnam the Falklands to the Gulf and Afghanistan Iraq and the War on Terror the book examines the attractions and risks of war reporting the challenge of objectivity and impartiality in the war zone the danger that journalistic independence is compromised by military control censorship and public relations as well as the commercial and technological pressures of an intensely concentrated competitive news media environment As history and ideology return to the reporting of international conflict Greg

McLaughlin asks what will that mean for a new generation of war correspondents attuned not to history or ideology but to the politics of the next conflict

A New History of War Reporting Kevin Williams, 2019-12-23 This book takes a fresh look at the history of war reporting to understand how new technology new ways of waging war and new media conditions are changing the role and work of today's war correspondent Focussing on the mechanics of war reporting and the logistical and institutional pressures on correspondents the book further examines the role of war propaganda accreditation and news management in shaping the evolution of the specialism Previously neglected conflicts and correspondents are reclaimed and wars considered as key moments in the history of war reporting such as the Crimean War 1854-56 and the Great War 1914-18 are re-evaluated The use of objectivity as the yardstick by which to assess the performance of war correspondents is questioned The emphasis is instead placed on war as a messy business which confronts reporters and photographers with conditions that challenge the norms of professional practice References to the demise of the war correspondent have accompanied the growth of the specialism since the days of William Howard Russell the so-called father of war reporting This highlights the fragile nature of this sub-genre of journalism and emphasises that continuity as much as change characterises the work of the war correspondent A thematically organised historically rich introduction this book is ideal for students of journalism media and communication

Honor James Bowman, 2007 From the earliest records of human civilization until the dawn of the twentieth century and in widely separated cultures throughout the world the story of honor was inseparable from the story of mankind Today an acquaintance with the concept of honor is indispensable to understanding the culture of the Islamic world and its sense of grievance against the West where honor has been disregarded or actively despised for three quarters of a century James Bowman draws from a wealth of sources across many centuries to illuminate honor's curious history in our own culture and he discovers that Western honor was always different from that found elsewhere Its idiosyncratic qualities derived partly from the classical tradition but mainly from the Judeo-Christian heritage whose emphases on individual morality and more recently on sincerity and authenticity in private and personal life have acted as continual challenges to the traditional notion of honor as it is still maintained in other parts of the world These challenges to honor and the accommodations with it that they ultimately produced are a fundamental theme in our own culture's distinctive history and the eventual collapse of the honor culture in the West is the background against which the War on Terror and the Clash of Civilizations ought to be seen

Communicating War Sarah Maltby, Richard Keeble, 2007 Wars are now mediated in unprecedented ways and through a variety of communicative forms Correspondingly there is an increasing awareness among those involved in war of the need to gauge and manage what is communicated Communicating War Media Memory and Military contextualises these developments by locating the emergence of recent wars and terrorist activity in a wider frame of global socio-political change highlighting the social political and historical aspects of communicating war This includes the remembering and forgetting of wars through cultures of collective memory and media selectivity the organization practice and culture of media institutions in the mediation of war information and the strategic use of information by military institutions and terrorist organizations in the execution of war and terrorist acts Remaining sensitive to the complexities of conflict the book moves beyond a focus on UK and US interventions and reflects upon the communication of war in relation to all forms of conflict particularly terrorism and under reported civil conflicts Adopting a multi disciplinary approach Communicating War Memory Media Military will be of interest to students in journalism media war and peace studies international relations and international politics Contributors include practitioners from within the journalistic and military communities and international scholars from a broad range of social sciences Stuart Allan David Altheide Chris Atton Oliver Boyd Barrett Nico Carpentier Neal Curtis Richard Keeble Andrew Hoskins Makram Khoury Machool Sarah Maltby Donald Matheson Lara Pawson Ron Schleifer Martin Shaw Angus Taverner John Tulloch Howard Tumber and Jeremy Tunstall REVIEWERS COMMENTS Few topics of media research affect us more personally and emotionally than how media represents war and the military s partly hidden role in that process Communicating War is a wide ranging and important contribution to that debate which also has the advantage of being right up to date Essential reading Nick Couldry Professor of Media and Communications Goldsmiths University of London We live in an age where the relationship between war and communications media is more complex and more urgent than ever before Communicating War is therefore to be welcomed Its rich collection sets the agenda as does the War and Media Network from which it emerges Crucially the collection reminds us of that which is forgotten which can be as important in the war media relationship today as those things embedded in memory James Gow Professor of International Peace and Security Kings College London A timely and hugely valuable contribution to the scholarly literature on news about conflict and war The range of contributors and the variety of themes covered make this collection essential reading for students and researchers of conflict reporting in the post 9 11 world Brian McNair Professor of Journalism and Communication University of Strathclyde Communicating War is a timely collection of great diversity bringing both historical depth and theoretical sophistication to a range of urgent contemporary debates about the media s role in war Philip Hammond Reader in Media and Communications London South Bank University

The Greenwood Library of American War Reporting: The Vietnam War & post-Vietnam conflicts David A. Copeland, 2005 Democracies cannot sustain unpopular wars Vietnam was the most divisive for war for the American people The enemy s tenacity was not accounted for in U S war plans until there was frustration in the field skepticism in the press and splintered support at home After the Vietnam debacle the press s latitude to cover military action was increasingly curtailed by the military and the government which sought to control the flow and content of the news better than they had in Vietnam by forcing reporters into supervised media pools

The Greenwood Library of American War Reporting: The Civil War, north and south David A. Copeland, 2005 Called the first modern war and our greatest national calamity the nation s press conveyed news of the Civil War to the citizens North and South who looked to newspapers as their primary source of information. Circulation pressures, political partisanship, scarce materials, and the unyielding public appetite for the latest news all contributed to how the growing numbers of professional journalists covered the pressing political and military events during those crucial years. The Greenwood Library of American War Reporting: The Indian wars & the Spanish-American War David A. Copeland, 2005 The Greenwood Library of American War Reporting: The War of 1812 & the Mexican-American War David A. Copeland, 2005. Young America's next encounter with Britain came during the War of 1812 when the nation's press called for all Americans to defend their recently won independence and protect their territorial integrity and national rights. The Mexican American War was the nation's first war of westward expansion, the reporting of which was greatly affected by the emergence of the telegraph and military censorship of news from the war zone. Reporting Vietnam William M. Hammond, 1998. This text explains that government and media first shared a vision of American involvement in Vietnam but as the war dragged on, government press releases were challenged by reports from the field. Book Review Digest, 2009. The Media of Mass Communication John Vivian, 2007. This 30th jubilee volume of Palaeoecology of Africa looks back and reflects the state of the art of what is actually known on former African climates and ecosystems in the format of review articles authored by specialists in the field. New research articles on climate and ecosystem dynamics as well as applied topics on geomorphic hazards and future environmental trends in Africa are included. This book will be of interest to all concerned with ecosystems dynamics, tropical forests, savannahs, deserts, and related development problems of third world countries, especially ecologists, botanists, earth scientists, e.g. Quaternary and recent climate change regional planners. It will also be valuable for advanced undergraduates and postgraduates as a reference for review and overview articles as well as a source of information for new original manuscripts and reviews on the state of the art of long term and Quaternary and Holocene landscape evolution, esp. in sub-Saharan Africa. Palaeobotanists, Palynologists, and Quaternarists will equally find this edition useful for their work. The Greenwood Library of American War Reporting: World War I & World War II, the European Theater David A. Copeland, 2005. Violent, destructive, and murderous like nothing before or since, the world wars mobilized entire societies to support the war effort. Propaganda, censorship, security demands, and military control of press credentialing pressured the media in new and novel ways. Blacks and women became war correspondents in numbers for the first time, while live radio broadcasts and combat film and photography enabled newsmen to report the heroism, tragedy, and violence of war in new, more visceral ways. Journalism Ethics Martin Hirst, Roger Patching, 2007. Situating modern ethical dilemmas in a social and historical context, this text encourages students to think critically about the theory and practice of journalism ethics. It has been fully updated in every chapter with new examples and cases taken from yesterday's headlines. Book Review Index, 2006. Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation. The New Yorker Harold Wallace Ross, William Shawn, Tina Brown, David Remnick, Katharine Sergeant Angell White, Rea Irvin, Roger Angell, 2005. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2006.
