Torch Song:

Torch Song Kenyon Nicholson, 1930 The Torch Song Trilogy Harvey Fierstein, 1981 Irving Berlin's American Musical Theater Jeffrey Magee, 2012-04-06 From patriotic God Bless America to wistful White Christmas Irving Berlin's songs have long accompanied Americans as they fall in love go to war and come home for the holidays Irving Berlin's American Musical Theater is the first book to fully consider this songwriter's immeasurable influence on the American stage Award winning music historian Jeffrey Magee chronicles Berlin's legendary theatrical career providing a rich background to some of the great composer's most enduring songs from There's No Business Like Show Business to Puttin' on the Ritz Magee shows how Berlin's early experience singing for pennies made an impression on the young man who kept hold of that sensibility throughout his career and transformed it into one of the defining attributes of Broadway shows Magee also looks at darker aspects of Berlin's life examining the anti-Semitism that Berlin faced and his struggle with depression Informative provocative and full of colorful details this book will delight song and theater aficionados alike as well as anyone interested in the story of a man whose life and work expressed so well the American dream Torch song trilogy, 1986 Continuum Encyclopedia of Popular Music of the World Volume 8 John Shepherd, David Horn, 2012-03-08 See Continuum Encyclopedia of Popular Music of the World, Volume 2 John Shepherd, David Horn, Dave Laing, Paul Oliver, Peter Wicke, 2003-05-08 The Bloomsbury Encyclopedia of Popular Music Volume 1 provides an overview of media industry and technology and its relationship to popular music In 500 entries by 130 contributors from around the world the volume explores the topic in two parts Part I Social and Cultural Dimensions covers the social phenomena of relevance to the practice of popular music and Part II The Industry covers all aspects of the popular music industry such as copyright instrumental manufacture management and marketing record corporations studios companies and labels Entries include bibliographies discographies and filmographies and an extensive index is provided Torch Song Tango Choir Julie Sophia Paegle, 2010 These fine poems are connected by and evoke the music of lost homelands Paegle the daughter of immigrants from Argentina and Latvia takes us through the tumult of displacement and migration with a strong sense for the folk songs and tango music of her youth Against this musical backdrop she invests the bandoneon an accordion like instrument brought to Argentina in the late nineteenth century with a special significance Her poetic account of the instrument yields this striking tribute which testifies to the passion of the collection when mission music spilled five octaves went new world wild The poems in the first section torch songs hover near a heartbreaking lyricism as they reckon with political histories landscapes and loss As she writes in this section there is truly nothing in this life like being blind in Granada The sonnet crown that comprises the next section tango liso plots a history of cultural inheritance and renewal weaving back and forth in time and spanning Argentina Spain and the United States Here the reader encounters Eva Peron alongside Katharine of Aragon and Billie Holiday The final section choir commemorates sites of pilgrimage in Latvia West

Germany and Spain among other places In this extended contemplation of cathedral spaces Paegle interrogates the boundary between the sacred and the secular silence and song What emerges from this diverse collection is a sensual and allusive space where music and memory coincide
