The Proposition Multicultural Romance:

Raising His Baby: Interracial Romance Tressie Lockwood, Author's Note While there is lots of delicious tension between the hero and heroine this work is CLEAN Everyone said Romy Sartori was the nice one and Sonya hoped that was true Otherwise she wouldn't tell him the secret she's keeping that she's raising his son Sonya's half sister didn't want Romy to know about his baby unless something happened to her After an accident took Charlize's life Sonya is raising her nephew as her own She takes a job working as Romy's temporary assistant but she's better at playing sports than wearing heels and running behind spoiled rich men Disaster strikes and Romy discovers the truth It's too bad no one told Sonya Romy hates scheming women and worse that she finds him irresistible Romy might not be as bad as his brother Ezio but he is a true Sartori at heart He won't have his son raised anywhere else except in the Sartori mansion If Sonya wants to stay with her sweet baby boy she has no choice but to cave to Romy's will interracial romance multicultural romance bwwm contemporary romance billionaire romance

His Reason, Her Choice: Interracial Romance Teona Bell, To take care of her two young daughters Joy stays with a man whose every touch makes her sick The single light in her life other than her babies is her friend Russ Joy and Russ kept up an innocent long distance friendship over texts and occasional phone calls with the full knowledge and consent of her boyfriend Unfortunately Joy never admitted the truth of her nightmare to Russ Then she loses her job and she's faced with going home to a mother who has always degraded her Joy is desperate not to expose her girls to their grandmother but she doesn't have a choice Not until Russ offers her a solution that's just like what's leaving come back to Atlanta as his mistress and he'll take care of her and the girls Russ didn't know the truth but it doesn't stop the hurt from his proposition Joy will accept hoping somehow this time will be different interracial romance bwwm multicultural romance contemporary romance

Visions of Belonging Judith E. Smith, 2004-09-01 Visions of Belonging explores how beloved and still remembered family stories A Tree Grows in Brooklyn I Remember Mama Gentleman's Agreement Death of a Salesman Marty and A Raisin in the Sun entered the popular imagination and shaped collective dreams in the postwar years and into the 1950s These stories helped define widely shared conceptions of who counted as representative Americans and who could be recognized as belonging The book listens in as white and black authors and directors readers and viewers reveal divergent emotionally textured and politically charged social visions Their diverse perspectives provide a point of entry into an extraordinary time when the possibilities for social transformation seemed boundless But changes were also fiercely contested especially as the war's culture of unity receded in the resurgence of cold war anticommunism and demands for racial equality were met with intensifying white resistance Judith E Smith traces the cultural trajectory of these family stories as they circulated widely in bestselling paperbacks hit movies and popular drama on stage radio and television Visions of Belonging provides unusually close access to a vibrant conversation among white and black Americans about the boundaries between public life and family matters and the meanings of race and ethnicity Would the new appearance of white working class ethnic characters expand Americans understanding of democracy Would these stories challenge the color line How could these stories simultaneously show that black families belonged to the larger family of the nation while also representing the forms of danger and discriminations that excluded them from full citizenship In the 1940s war driven challenges to racial and ethnic borderlines encouraged hesitant trespass against older notions of normal But by the end of the 1950s the cold war cultural atmosphere discouraged probing of racial and social inequality and ultimately turned family stories into a comforting retreat from politics The book crosses disciplinary boundaries suggesting a novel method for cultural history by probing the social history of literary dramatic and cinematic texts Smith s innovative use of archival research sets authorial intent next to audience reception to show how both contribute to shaping the contested meanings of American belonging

Reading between the Borderlines Gillian Roberts,2018-12-30 Reading Between the Borderlines is impeccably edited and well written Its wide ranging contributions make it a mandatory addition to any library concerned with North American studies Amerikastudien American Studies An investigation into how culture is made moved and used across the Canada US border

Paris and the Musical Olaf Jubin,2021-03-17 Paris and the Musical explores how the famous city has been portrayed on stage and screen investigates why the city has been of such importance to the genre and tracks how it has developed as a trope over the 20th and 21st centuries From global hits An American in Paris Gigi Les Mis rables Moulin Rouge and The Phantom of the Opera to the less widely known Bless the Bride Can Can Irma la Douce and Marguerite the French capital is a central character in an astounding number of Broadway Hollywood and West End musicals This collection of 18 essays combines cultural studies sociology musicology art and adaptation theory and gender studies to examine the envisioning and dramatisation of Paris and its depiction as a place of romance hedonism and libertinism or as the capital of the arts The interdisciplinary nature of this collection renders it as a fascinating resource for a wide range of courses it will be especially valuable for students and scholars of Musical Theatre and those interested in Theatre and Film History more generally

Reading American Novels and Multicultural Aesthetics Lou Freitas Caton,2008 Using romantic theories Caton analyzes America s contemporary novel Organized through the two sections of Theory and Practice Reading American Novels and Multicultural Aesthetics begins with a study of aesthetic form only to have it reveal the content of politics and history This presentation immediately offers a unified platform for an interchange between multiple cultural and aesthetic positions Romantic theory provides for an integrated examination of diversity one that metaphorically fosters a solid inclusive and democratic legitimacy for intercultural communication This politically astute cosmopolitan appreciation will generate an intriguing cross over audience from ethnic studies to American studies and from literary studies to romantic studies this book will interest a range of readers

Forum Italicum, 2004. Forum Italicum is a journal of Italian Studies founded by M Ricciardelli in 1967. The journal is intended as a meeting place where scholars, critics, and teachers can present their views on the literature, language, and culture of Italy and other countries in relation to Italy. Young and hitherto unpublished scholars are encouraged to contribute their critical works.

Place, Language, and Identity in Afro-Costa Rican Literature Dorothy E. Mosby, 2003. In Place, Language, and Identity in Afro-Costa Rican Literature Dorothy E. Mosby investigates contemporary black writing from Costa Rica and argues that it reveals the story of a people formed by multiple migrations and cultural transformations. Afro-Costa Rican writers from different historical periods express their relation to place, language, and identity as a process, a transformation partly due to sociohistorical circumstances and partly in reaction against the national myths of whiteness in the dominant Hispanic culture. Black writers in Costa Rica have used creative writing as a means to express this change in self-identity as West Indians, as Cost Ricans, as Latinos, and as a contentious union of all these cultural identifications, as well as to combat myths and extrinsic definitions of their culture. Mosby examines the transformation of identity in works by black writers in Costa Rica of Afro-West Indian descent as particular national identities find common ground in the expression of an Afro-Costa Rican identity. These writers include Alderman Johnson, Roden Dolores, Joseph Eulalia, Bernard Quince, Duncan Shirley Campbell, and Delia McDonald, all of whose works are analyzed for their use of language and their reflections on place and exile. Their works are also read as articulations of generational shifts in the assertion of cultural and national identity. Mosby convincingly argues that Afro-Costa Rican literature emerged out of the African-derived oral traditions of Anglo-West Indian literature. She then goes on to show how second-generation writers included this literary tradition in their work, while fourth-generation poets refer to it only through occasional allusions. With the current growth of interest in Afro-Hispanic and Afro-Latin American cultural and literary studies, this book will be essential for courses in Latin American and Caribbean literature, comparative studies, Diaspora studies, history, cultural studies, and the literature of migration.

British Writers Ian Scott-Kilvert, 1979. This collection of critical essays covers writers who have made significant contributions to British, Irish, and Commonwealth literature from the 14th century to the present day.

Index to Black Periodicals 2003 GK Hall, 2004. This classic one-volume reference work now indexes more than 35 journals, both popular and scholarly, representing the rich culture and current history of African Americans. Among the topics treated in each edition of the annual Index are gender, issues, literature, education, business, discrimination, health care, and the arts. Interviews, obituaries, and book and drama reviews are also included. The Index is international in scope, including African countries and regions, but its emphasis is on the extraordinary diversity of the African American experience Authors subjects and numerous cross references are combined in a single convenient alphabetical arrangement The Index formerly appeared under the titles Index to Periodical Articles By and About Blacks Index to Periodical Articles By and About Negroes and Index to Selected Periodicals By and About Negroes G K Hall published a ten year cumulation of the Index covering the years 1950 1959 and began publishing the Index on an annual basis in 1961 The volumes from 1961 forward were published in conjunction with The Hallie Q Brown Memorial Library at Central State University in Wilberforce Ohio The New York Public Library s Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History also participated during the years 1960 1970 In mid 1984 G K Hall assumed editorial responsibility for the Index Periodicals indexed include About Time African American Pulpit The African American Review Afro Americans in New York Life and History American Legacy American Visions Black Enterprise Black Issues in Higher Education Black Renaissance Renaissance Noir Black Scholar Callaloo CLA Journal V Crisis Ebony Emerge Equity and Excellence in Education Heart Soul Howard Journal of Communications International Review of African American Jet Journal of Black Psychology The Journal of Black Studies Journal of Blacks in Higher Education Journal of Negro Education MultiCultural Review Muslim Journal National Black Law Journal Obsidian III Public Culture Race and Class Research in African Literatures Review of Black Political Economy Transition Upscale Vital Issues Western Journal of Black Studies The The New York Times Theater Reviews, 1920- ,1971 The New York Times Theater Reviews ,1991
