Browning,2003-03-20 The processes of modernization and globalization promise more wealth and health for many people But they are also a threat to the stability and quality of marriage and family life This new book at once sobering and constructive looks at the impact of these processes on marriage and asks what Christianity in cooperation with other religions can do to strengthen married life today Among the deleterious effects of modernization and globalization on marriage are a worldwide drift of men away from the responsibility of parenthood and the tendency of mothers too readily to take on the task of childrearing alone After looking at recent research on these and other problems Don Browning suggests that the cure for modern marital disruption entails reforming and reconstructing the institution of marriage while also nurturing relevant forms of social support Yet the effort to initiate a world marriage revival requires a complex cultural work and Browning explores the key contributions that the religions of the world must make for such an effort to be successful Encyclopedia of Anthropology H. James Birx,2006 Focuses on physical social and applied anthropology archaeology linguistics and symbolic communication Topics include hominid evolution primate behaviour genetics ancient civilizations cross cultural studies and social theories The Changing Family in Comparative Perspective East-West Center,1998 This volume compares recent family patterns in Japan South Korea Taiwan and other Asian countries with those found in the United States Written by distinguished social scientists from Asia and the U S the essays in this volume use new surveys and censuses to compare Asian and American patterns of marriage divorce women s roles men s contributions to housework well being in marriage and patterns of contact and exchange between adults and their parents The volume s results suggest that patterns of family formation and dissolution in Asia are converging with those in the United States in many respects but that intergenerational relationships remain distinct Chinese Marriages in Transition Xiaoling Shu,Jingjing Chen,2023-09-15 Outdated models of Chinese gender roles marriage and family transitions portray these changes as streamlined and unidirectional from traditional to modern public to private collective to individual Chinese Marriages in Transition documents the complex nuanced and multidirectional nature of these cultural transformations Using complex and large scale historical national data as well as comprehensive data from multiple countries Xiaoling Shu and Jingjing Chen demonstrate that while the second demographic transition is unfolding in many advanced Western societies it is not necessarily a normative form of societal transition Working instead from a framework of new familism Shu and Chen show that Chinese new familism consists of both old and new values including the persistence of some traditional beliefs and practices accompanied by a transition to modern perceptions of gender and adaption to some modern forms of family formation This book is freely available in an open access edition thanks to TOME Toward an Open Monograph Ecosystem a collaboration of the Association of American Universities the Association of University Presses and the Association of

Quah, 2015-03-24 Research on the family has expanded considerably across Asia but studies tend to be fragmented focusing on narrow issues within limited areas cities towns small communities and may not be accessible to international readers These limitations make it difficult for researchers students policy makers and practitioners to obtain the information they need The Routledge Handbook of Families in Asia fills that gap by providing a current and comprehensive analysis of Asian families by a wide range of experts in a single publication The thirty two chapters of this comparative and multi disciplinary volume are organized into nine major themes conceptual approaches methodological issues family life in the context of culture family relationships across the family life cycle issues of work and income stress and conflict family diversity family policy and laws and environmental setting of homes Each chapter examines family life across Asian countries studying cultural similarities and differences and exploring how families are changing and what trends are likely to develop in the future To provide a fruitful learning experience for the reader each chapter offers examples relevant data and a comprehensive list of references Offering a complete interdisciplinary overview of families in Asia the Handbook will be of interest to students academics policy makers and practitioners across the disciplines of Asian Studies Sociology Demography Social Work Law Social Policy Anthropology Geography Public Health and Architecture Future Survey Annual , 1995 The Methods and Materials of Demography Henry S. Wardle, David Orgon Coolidge, 2002-01-30 As divorce rates in the United States reach alarming levels the institution of marriage receives more and more criticism as an unrealistic endeavor However the contributors to this volume view marriage as a vital social institution not merely one kind of intimate relationship They argue for stronger support through legal and policy reform in order to strengthen for the benefit of individuals communities and the nation The contributors address hot button issues such as same sex marriage effects of divorce on children and the role of fathers in addition to issues such as the permanence of marriage covenant marriage and the role of religion in marriage This work brings together the work of respected legal scholars and social scientists who articulate why we should care about strengthening the institution of marriage what we can do and what challenges we face Despite dramatic social change marriage remains a critical social institution that promotes individual family and community well being The contributors to this book believe that marriage deserves our best efforts to revitalize it instead of a conscious agenda of benign neglect Here assembled in one place is a clear pro marriage research and policy agenda aimed at revitalizing this institution based on principles of the best interests of children husbands and wives and society at large Contributors from both the social sciences and legal studies illuminate critical issues from a variety of important perspectives providing a comprehensive and respectful treatment of a timely and often divisive subject
