Rethinking World History Marshall G. S. Hodgson, 1993-05-28. Is the history of the modern world the history of Europe writ large? Or is it possible to situate the history of modernity as a world historical process apart from its origins in Western Europe? In this posthumous collection of essays, Marshall G. S. Hodgson challenges adherents of both Eurocentrism and multiculturalism to rethink the place of Europe in world history. He argues that the line that connects Ancient Greeks to the Renaissance to modern times is an optical illusion and that a global and Asia-centred history can better locate the European experience in the shared histories of humanity. Hodgson then shifts the historical focus and in a parallel move seeks to locate the history of Islamic civilisation in a world historical framework. In so doing, he concludes that there is but one history: global history, and that all partial or privileged accounts must necessarily be resituated in a world historical context. The book also includes an introduction by the editor Edmund Burke contextualising Hodgson's work in world history and Islamic history.

Navigating World History P. Manning, 2003-05-15. World history has expanded dramatically in recent years, primarily as a teaching field and increasingly as a research field. Growing numbers of teachers and Ph.D.s in history are required to teach the subject. They must be current on topics from human evolution to industrial development in Song dynasty China to today's disease patterns and then link these disparate topics into a coherent course Numerous textbooks in print and in preparation summarize the field of world history at an introductory level But good teaching also requires advanced training for teachers and access to a stream of new research from scholars trained as world historians In this book Patrick Manning provides the first comprehensive overview of the academic field of world history He reviews patterns of research and debate and proposes guidelines for study by teachers and by researchers in world history

The English in Ireland in the Eighteenth Century in Three Volumes by James Anthony Froude, M.A, 1874 The Jewish Forum, 1930 Documentary, World History, and National Power in the PRC Gotelind Mueller, 2013-10-30 Documentaries have recently become a favourite format for Chinese state directed media to present an officially sanctioned view of history Indeed this is not confined to Chinese national history In stark contrast to the earlier self centred preoccupation with Chinese history there has been an upsurge in interest in foreign history with a view to illuminating China's role not only in world history but also on the global stage today and in the future This book examines three recent Chinese documentary television series which present the officially sanctioned view of the rise of the modern West the reasons for the end of the Soviet Union and the legitimisation of the present day Chinese government via a specific reading of modern Chinese history to argue for a Chinese rise in the future With a focus on these documentaries Gotelind M ller discusses how history is presented on screen and explores the function of visual history for memory culture and wider society Further this book reveals how the presentation of Chinese and foreign history in a global framework impacts on the officially transmitted views on Self and Other and thus provides a keen insight into how the Chinese themselves regard their global rise Documentary World History and National Power in the PRC will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a number of fields including Chinese studies East Asian studies media studies television studies history and memory studies
