

Yesterday's Adventures: Asking About Past Locations

This lesson focuses on enabling students to inquire about and describe their whereabouts at different times yesterday. We'll introduce new phrases like "Where were you (yesterday morning/afternoon/evening)?" and "I was in the (kitchen)." We will also recycle language related to parts of a building, rooms, and location (at home, on the second floor, above). The lesson plan includes a warmer activity, presentation of new language, Student's Book exercises, Workbook activities, and a concluding circle activity to reinforce learning.

Elevator Warm-Up: Reviewing Building Parts

Flashcard Review

Begin by reviewing parts of buildings using flashcards. This helps refresh students' memory and prepares them for the lesson's context.

This activity not only reviews vocabulary but also introduces a practical scenario where students can use the language.

Interactive Elevator Game

Draw an elevator control panel on the board with buttons for different floors. Call volunteers to "press" the buttons to reach specific floors, reinforcing vocabulary in a fun, interactive way.
