Its blend of information and analysis makes it an indispensable resource for policy makers, officials, and non-governmental organizations. The Small Arms Survey is an independent research project located at the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva, Switzerland. Small Arms Survey Small Arms Survey, 2008. Kasarinlan, 2004. Implementing the United Nations Programme of Action on Small Arms and Light Weapons. Elli Kyto, Valerie Yankey-Wayne, 2004. This publication assesses the reports submitted to the UN by member states during 2003 on the progress they have made towards implementation of the UN Programme of Action on Small Arms and Light Weapons (PoA). This is based on a joint project undertaken by the UN Development Programme (UNDP), the UN Department for Disarmament Affairs (UNDDA), and the UN Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR) in collaboration with the Small Arms Survey. Findings include that 103 out of 191 member states submitted annual reports during 2003 with progress made on implementation of the PoA in the areas of national legislation, weapons collection and destruction, and public awareness.

Sexed Pistols Vanessa Farr, Henri Myrtilinen, Albrecht Schnabel, 2009. Every day small arms and light weapons (SALW) kill, wound, and threaten millions of adults and children. Due to their widespread availability, mobility, and ease of use, prolific SALW have become central to maintaining social dislocation, destabilization, insecurity, and crime in the build-up to war during wartime and in the aftermath of conflict. Small arms are misused within domestic settings as well as in public spaces, affecting everyone in the community without regard to sex or age. The impact of these weapons can be vastly different for women and men, and for girls and boys. However, careful consideration of gender and age is rare in the formulation of small arms policy, of planning small arms collection or control, or even in small arms research. To counter the effects of prolific SALW their role in gender and age specific violence must be more deeply analyzed and the results applied at the policy and operational level This work should be undertaken in war afflicted contexts in societies suffering from elevated levels of social violence and or severe underdevelopment and in those tolerant of the presence of individually owned firearms Contributors to the book draw on experience and research from around the world on the nexus of gender age violence and small arms in developing and developed countries They provide a number of recommendations for policies programs and research designed to further illuminate and counteract the firing of the sexed pistol
