Guillén,2020-11-10 The dream of scientific management was a rationalized machine world where life would approach the perfection of an assembly line But since its early twentieth century peak this dream has come to seem a dehumanizing nightmare Henry Ford s assembly lines turned out a quarter of a million cars in 1914 but all of them were black Forgotten has been the unparalleled new aesthetic beauty once seen in the ideas of Ford and scientific management pioneer Frederick Winslow Taylor In The Taylorized Beauty of the Mechanical Mauro Guill n recovers this history and retells the story of the emergence of modernist architecture as a romance with the ideas of scientific management one that permanently reshaped the profession of architecture Modernist architecture s pioneers Guill n shows found in scientific management the promise of a new functional machine like and beautiful architecture and the prospect of a new role for the architect as technical professional and social reformer Taylor and Ford had a signal influence on Bauhaus founder Walter Gropius and on Le Corbusier and his Towards a New Architecture the most important manifesto of modernist architecture Architects were so enamored with the ideas of scientific management that they adopted them even when there was no functional advantage to do so Not a traditional architectural history but rather a sociological study of the profession of architecture during its early modernist period The Taylorized Beauty of the Mechanical provides a new understanding of the degree to which modernist architecture emerged from a tradition of engineering and industrial management The Dissertation Iain Borden,2006-08-14 The Dissertation is one of the most demanding yet potentially most stimulating components of an architectural course Properly done it can be a valuable contribution not only to the students own learning development but also to the field of architecture as a whole This book provides a complete guide to what to do how to do it when to do it and the major pitfalls involved This is a comprehensive guide to all that an architecture student might need to know about undertaking the dissertation including new material on CD ROM and online sources web based research techniques digital images alternative imaging strategies key architecture links referencing and new dissertation extracts It clearly navigates
