South To Calabria:

South to Calabria Leslie Gardiner, 1968 The Royal Dictionary-cyclopædia, for Universal Reference ... ,1862 The New Werner Twentieth Century Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1906 Alexander's empire and Roman empire Israel Smith Clare, 1899 The Olive Landscapes of the Mediterranean José Muñoz-Rojas, Roberto García-Ruiz, 2024-12-13

This book provides a state of the art review of the current models and typologies of olive landscapes and related farming systems in the Mediterranean. It also explores potential prospects for monitoring and enhancing their sustainability standards. Olive groves are an essential component of the historical landscape that largely drive the cultural, ecological, and socio-economic character of the region. Agronomic intensification and mechanization, market globalization and delocalization, and financialization are affecting these ancient farming systems in certain olive landscapes, whereas others are threatened by abandonment and financial loss. This complex set of processes is resulting in a heterogeneous mosaic of olive landscapes when examined across nested spatial, temporal scales, and institutional levels. In alignment with such complexity, multiple challenges are arising, linked to sustainability standards and targets. Sustainability has actually been the subject of much public discussion, and yet of not nearly enough scientific evidence gathering that is both robust and comparable across geographic contexts and scales. This is where this book is expected to provide a meaningful contribution. Ultimately, the main objective of this book is to establish a base line sustainability picture of the complex mosaic of olive landscapes across the Mediterranean region. The book is structured along a series of national, regional, and thematic reviews and syntheses which lead to joined up reflections on current and future challenges, opportunities, and trajectories for enhancing the sustainability of olive landscapes across the Mediterranean. The book will be of interest to academics and researchers, policy makers, the farming community, and market agents alike. We expect that they will find in this book an overall picture of the sector's current situation and plausible pathways for achieving enhanced sustainability standards, whilst also permitting the reader to gain depth on the contingent characteristics of the different drivers, components, and typologies of these dynamic and valuable landscapes.

Textile Production in Pre-Roman Italy Margarita Gleba, 2008-11-05. Older than both ceramics and metallurgy, textile production is a technology which reveals much about prehistoric social and economic development. This book examines the archaeological evidence for textile production in Italy from the transition between the Bronze Age and Early Iron Ages until the Roman expansion 1000-400 BCE and sheds light on both the process of technological development and the emergence of large urban centres with specialised crafts. Margarita Gleba begins with an overview of the prehistoric Apennine peninsula which featured cultures such as the Villanovans and the Etruscans and was connected through colonisation and trade with the other parts of the Mediterranean. She then focuses on the textiles themselves, their appearance in written and iconographic sources, the fibres and dyes employed, how they were produced, and what they were used for. We learn, for instance, of the linen used in sails and rigging on Etruscan ships and of the complex looms needed to produce twill Featuring a comprehensive analysis of textiles remains and textile tools from the period the book recovers information about funerary ritual the sexual differentiation of labour the spinners and weavers were usually women and the important role the exchange of luxury textiles played in the emergence of an elite Textile production played a part in ancient Italian society s change from an egalitarian to an aristocratic social structure and in the emergence of complex urban communities The Bookman's Journal with which is Incorporated The Print Collector ,1926 Southern Italy Paul Blanchard,John Flower,1996 this completely revised edition covers Italy s mezzogiorno the region south of Rome to Calabria including Capri the 20 itineraries offer thoughtful analyses of the region s history and geology art and architecture flora and fauna a careful selection of the finest hotels and restaurants detailed practical information sections devoted to southern Italian history art and cuisine up to date maps and plans and illustrations an indispensable guidebook and invaluable reference volume Illustrated History of All Nations Israel Smith Clare,1909 The Standard History of the World Israel Smith Clare,1928 Municipalities and the challenge of esg sustainability Paola Caporossi,2022-02-25T00:00:00+01:00 Citizens and local administrators usually discuss public services and policies on issues ranging from nurseries to public parks and gardens Yet the discussion almost never concerns the administrative capacity of a Municipality without which those services and policies are not feasible This is why the European Union regularly recommends that its Member States strengthen their administrative capacity as a condition for example for the good use of structural funds and the NRP PNRR After all the arrival of European money is not enough to guarantee development at the same time the public organisational machinery in each country must be improved Otherwise it would be like injecting petrol into a car with a broken engine The Public Rating analysis presented here does not aim to assign report cards to Municipalities but to identify their strengths and weaknesses so as to be able to better direct targeted actions to support administrative strengthening The book is therefore a cognitive tool for citizens and a compass for the Government on the qualitative performance of Municipalities capable of identifying the many existing good practices Transparency is the prerequisite for this to be possible therefore faced with the difficulties of some Municipalities in fulfilling their publication obligations the response of a modern State cannot be to reduce transparency obligations as stated in the PNRR but to support fulfilment itself first and foremost through digitalisation The Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1876 Ancient history Israel Smith Clare,1906 Coastal Tectonics Iain S.
