Language Contact in the second phase of the French Influence on Middle English Lydia Albrecht, 2012-08-15 Seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1-3 University of Potsdam course Seminar Middle English language English abstract 1 Introduction I started learning English as my first foreign language at the age of eight followed by French as the second at the age of eleven Soon I recognised similarities of the vocabulary of the two languages not knowing why since the grammatical structure and the declension of nouns etc was obviously different Of course I was too young to think it over However during my studies of English linguistics I was taught the basic knowledge about the relation between French and English Since I had learned that most of the words I knew from French were also borrowed into English I was particularly interested in the process of this phenomenon Which events and developments were responsible for the adoption of so many words The Middle English period was characterised by many changes both in its social and linguistic situation In 1066 the Norman Conquest occurred marking the starting point of the most influencing era throughout the history of the English language After the Conquest there were two main waves of immigration Firstly French upper class people migrated to the occupied British Island bringing their language with them and English lost its status as the official language Secondly about two hundred years later those French people lost their connection to the continent when king John lost Normandy and English was about to reinforce again However soon new French invasions occurred and a new French variety was brought to the Island which led to an increasing number of new vocabulary and the English language had to be enforced a second time Baugh 1991 This raises the question why French prevailed in the English language that persistently although English had been reinforced and had already gained prestige again This is the matter of interest in this research paper which is concerned with the history of the English language between 1066 and 1400 Generally it deals with the French influence on the English language but focusses especially on the impact of Central French which took place in the second phase 1250-1500 where most of the vocabulary was adopted The Chautauquan, 1885 The Railway Conductor, 1907 Railway Conductors' Monthly, 1907 The Growth of English Henry Cecil Wyld, 1910 Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
