The Invasion From Mars , On Halloween night 1938 Orson Welles broadcast a radio adaptation of the H G Wells fantasy The War of the Worlds What listeners heard sounded so realistic that at least a million were frightened by word that strange creatures from Mars had landed in central New Jersey and were unleashing a deadly assault Several thousand were so terrified they ran into the streets drove away in their cars or called the police for information about how to escape Why did so many panic when the circumstances reported were so improbable That is just the question Hadley Cantril then a young social psychologist set out to answer Originally published in 1940 The Invasion from Mars remains a classic The broadcast provided a unique real life opportunity to explore why the relatively new medium of radio could have such an effect Using a mix of research methods Cantril shows that the impact of the broadcast had less to do with what went out over the air than with the standards of judgment people did or did not use in evaluating what they were hearing This book is of continuing value to those interested in communications and mass behavior One of the most fascinating illuminating and provocative social documents that have been brought to public attention for some time New York Times Book Review April 28 1940 The dramatic account brings into sharp focus those factors in the situation and from the individuals conducive to critical appraisal or contagious panic behavior Muzafer Sherif 1966 Hadley Cantril 1906 1969 was chairman of the Institute for International Social Research Earlier he founded the Office of Public Opinion Research and was Stuart Professor of Psychology at Princeton University He was author of nineteen books and monitored public opinion for the executive branch during World War II Albert H Cantril son of Hadley Cantril is an independent public opinion analyst Among his books are Reading Mixed Signals Ambivalence in American Public Opinion about Government with Susan Davis Cantril He also worked on the White House staff during the Johnson administration and later served in the Bureaus of East Asian and Pacific Affairs and Public Affairs of the Department of State The Invasion from Mars Hadley Cantril,1940 The Invasion from Mars Hadley Cantril,2017-11-13 On Halloween night 1938 Orson Welles broadcast a radio adaptation of the H G Wells fantasy The War of the Worlds What listeners heard sounded so realistic that at least a million were frightened by word that strange creatures from Mars had landed in central New Jersey and were unleashing a deadly assault Several thousand were so terrified they ran into the streets drove away in their cars or called the police for information about how to escape Why did so many panic when the circumstances reported were so improbable That is just the question Hadley Cantril then a young social psychologist set out to answer Originally published in 1940 The Invasion from Mars remains a classic The broadcast provided a unique real life opportunity to explore why the relatively new medium of radio could have such an effect Using a mix of research methods Cantril shows that the impact of the broadcast had less to do with what went out over the air than with the standards of judgment people did or did not use in evaluating what they were hearing This book is of continuing value to those interested in communications and mass behavior The Invasion from Mars Hadley Cantril,1966 The Invasion
