Grammatical Analysis Stanley Starosta, 2000-01-01 This volume focuses on problems in the morphological and syntactic analysis of certain Asian and Pacific languages bringing to bear alternative theories of grammar including relational categorial and lexicase dependency grammar and a whole word approach to morphology

Copulas Regina Pustet, 2003-06-12 Copulas in English the verb to be are conventionally defined functionally as a means of relating elements of clause structure especially subject and complement and considered to be semantically empty or meaningless They have received relatively little attention from linguists Dr Pustet in this extensive cross linguistic study goes some way towards correcting this neglect In doing so she takes issue with both accepted definition and description She presents an analysis of grammatical descriptions of over 160

languages drawn from the language families of the world She shows that some languages have a single copula others several and some none at all In a series of statistical analyses she seeks to explain why by linking the distribution of copulas to variations in lexical categorization and syntactic structure She concludes by advancing a comprehensive theory of copularization which she relates to language classification and to theories of language change notably grammaticalization

Linguistic Categorization Roberta Corrigan, Fred R. Eckman, Michael Noonan, 1989-01-01 This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the 16th International Symposium at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee Two central questions were addressed What is the nature of the categories that underlie the structure of human language What is the nature of extralinguistic categories that are reflected in language These questions are addressed from the perspective of a variety of disciplines using many different methodologies and focusing on many different aspects of language including morphology syntax semantics phonology and discourse The volume is divided into 3 sections prototype effects in language categorization processes and cross linguistic categorization
