Sunday At The Pool In Kigali:

A Sunday at the Pool in Kigali Gil Courtemanche, 2007-12-18 A Sunday at the Pool in Kigali is a moving passionate love story set amid the turmoil and terror of Rwanda's genocide. All manner of Kigali residents pass their time by the pool of the Mille Collines hotel: aid workers, Rwandan bourgeoisie expatriates, UN peacekeepers, prostitutes. Keeping a watchful eye is Bernard Valcourt, a jaded foreign journalist, but his closest attention is devoted to Gentille, a hotel waitress with the slender elegant build of a Tutsi. As they slip into an intense improbable affair, the delicately balanced world around them, already devastated by AIDS, erupts in a Hutu-led genocide against the Tutsi people. Valcourt's efforts to spirit Gentille to safety end in their separation. It will be months before he learns of his lover's shocking fate.

The Postcolonial African Genocide Novel Chigbo Arthur Anyaduba, 2021-10-01 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and through Knowledge Unlatched. In The Postcolonial African Genocide Novel, Chigbo Anyaduba examines fictional responses to mass atrocities occurring in postcolonial Africa. Through a comparative reading of novels responding to the genocides of the Igbo in Nigeria (1966-1970) and the Tutsi in Rwanda (1990-1994), the book underscores the ways that literary encounters with genocides in Africa's postcolonies have attempted to reimagine the conditions giving rise to exterminatory forms of mass violence. The book concretizes and troubles one of the apparent truisms of genocide studies, especially in the context of imaginative literature: that the reality of genocide more often than not resists meaningfulness. Particularly given the centrality of this truism to artistic responses to the Holocaust and to genocides more generally, Anyaduba tracks the astonishing range of meanings drawn by writers at a series of temporal, spatial, historical, cultural, and other removes from the realities of genocide in Africa's postcolonies: a set of meanings that are often highly specific and irreducible to maxims or foundational cases. The book shows that in the artistic projects to construct meanings against genocide's nihilism, writers of African genocides deploy tropes that, while significantly oriented to African concerns, are equally shaped by the representational conventions and practices associated with the legacies of the Holocaust.

Un dimanche à la piscine à Kigali Gil Courtemanche, 2000 Analyse Roman historique Roman de société Health Knowledge and Belief Systems in Africa Toyin Falola, Matthew M. Heaton, 2008 Health care in sub-Saharan Africa is and will continue to be an issue of utmost importance in the twenty-first century. As the HIV/AIDS pandemic ravages the continent, the stakes heighten not only to provide effective and efficient health care to African communities but also to disseminate knowledge about health-seeking behavior and to instill belief among people in the possibility of leading a healthy existence. Health Knowledge and Belief Systems in Africa raises questions and offers analysis on many issues related to how health and illness are understood by communities in Africa, as well as how health knowledge and beliefs are disseminated and utilized to provide health services to African populations. The chapters in this book derive from many different disciplinary approaches and cover regions across sub-Saharan Africa, thus offering a holistic glimpse at the knowledge and belief systems functioning in Africa and the ways that these systems contribute to health care access and delivery in the world's most endangered continent. This edited book of thirty-three chapters is an impressive update of scholarship on health concerns in Africa as the new century begins. Divided into five parts, it presents multidisciplinary analyses from the perspectives of individuals, professionals, non-profit organizations, communities, and governments. This is a volume that has much to offer anyone interested in Africa's evolving health care system.

The Camp Colman Hogan, Marta Marin-Dòmène, 2007. The camp is nothing if not diverse in kind, scope, and particularity in sociological and juridical configuration, in texture, iconography, and political import. Adjectives of camp specificity embrace a spectrum from extermination and concentration to detention, migration, deportation, and refugee camps. And while the geographic range covered by contributors is hardly global, it is broad: Chile, Rwanda, Canada, the US, Central Europe, Morocco, Algeria, South Africa, France, and Spain. And yet, is to so characterize the camp to run the risk of diffusing what in origin is a concentration into a paratactical series of oedipal particularisms. While The Camp does not seek to antithetically promulgate a universalist vision, it does aim to explore the imbrication of the particular and the universal, to analyze the structure of a camp or camps, and to call attention to the role of the listener in the construction of the testimony. For, by naming what cannot be said, is not every narrative of internment and exclusion a potential site of agency articulating the inner splitting of language that Giorgio Agamben defines as the locus of testimony: to bear witness is to place oneself in one's own language in the position of those who have lost it, to establish oneself in a living language as if it were dead, or in a dead language as if it were living.

Never Again, Again, Again... Lane H. Montgomery, 2007. A photographic essay with text on the six major genocides of the 20th and 21st centuries. More than a chronicle of dates and death tolls, it gives a personal history of victims, perpetrators, and consequences.

Black and White in Colour Vivian Bickford-Smith, Richard Mendelsohn, 2007. Black and White in colour considers how the African past has been represented in a wide range of historical films It provides extensive coverage of both place and time and deals with issues that have been prominent in the written history of Africa
