Vineyard Poets:

The Vineyard Fanny Howe, 1988 Vineyard Poets Julie Kimball, 2003 Walking to Martha's Vineyard Franz Wright, 2009-03-12 In this radiant new collection Franz Wright shares his regard for life in all its forms and his belief in the promise of blessing and renewal As he watches the Resurrection of the little apple tree outside my window he shakes off his fear of mortality concluding what death There is only mine or yours but the world will be filled with the living In prayerlike poems he invokes the one who spoke the world into being and celebrates a dazzling universe snowflakes descending at nightfall the intense yellow petals of the September sunflower the planet adrift in a blizzard of stars the simple mystery of loving other people As Wright overcomes a natural tendency toward loneliness and isolation he gives voice to his hope for the only animal that commits suicide and to our deep pleasure he arrives at a place of gratitude that is grounded in the earth and its moods The Vineyard Jonathan Galassi, 2026-03-03 A delightful account of the seasons in a house and its garden near the sea a domestic idyll of hardy plants and neighbors outer and inner weather love and loss and taking stock of the life we ve made The delicious long form poem The Vineyard is set in and around the quasi fictional Long Island village of Oyster Ponds where the poet spends the summer months In free flowing lines and pages that turn with the calendar the poem unspools impressions that seem confided rather than written as Galassi observes the pretend peace of this quiet house and garden his oasis in the turbulence of dailiness Themes and imagery recur swerve and transform as he watches the vineyard next door come alive thrive and die away only to return the next year different but the same in our time of plague climate threat and a culture that too often seems to attack what is enduring and fundamental But this book is not a complaint or a raging against the dying of the light it is an honest record of seeing and feeling in a beloved place of gratitude of searching for one s center As the poet describes the wisteria vine that sends out suckers into the lawn and the long and complex tale of the village and its inhabitants this modern eclogue becomes an ample container for Jonathan s life he s having a chat with us about all he notices and dreams about tending his plants and cooking and gossiping about loving a man and aging about his mother and Vita Sackville West and bike riding and having regrets The narrative swells and touches us in its surprising turns sometimes whole poems swim up and hold a page in the midst of its ongoing narrative reminding us of the ways that writing can shape the quotidian This intimate unhurried and unpretentious poem of past and present will stand as the central work of Jonathan Galassi s career The Vineyard Above the Sea Charles Tomlinson, 1999 The title poem of Charles Tomlinson s new volume describes the vineyards of an area of Italy which has been the subject of many poems since his earliest work In the Cinque Terre vines are cultivated along the cliffs within precarious sight of the sea beneath their wine tasting sharply of its surroundings In this way they have something in common with poetry itself These are the poems of a traveller and explore the personal through the sense of place Italy Greece Spain Portugal and the West of England I like something lucid writes Tomlinson surrounded by something mysterious The book includes his moving elegy to another traveller Bruce Chatwin

Tomlinson's geography is as large as Lawrence's but his passionate restraint reminds us of Edward Thomas. In his translations he responds to those elements which reveal the distinctive, hardly transferable qualities of vision as it takes shape in languages very different from his own: Russian, French, Spanish. Poets of the Vineyard California Federation of Chaparral Poets. Biblical Poetry and the Art of Close Reading J. Blake Couey, Elaine T. James, 2018-08-30 This volume explores the aesthetic dimensions of biblical poetry, offering close readings of poems across the Hebrew Bible Old Testament. Composed of essays by fifteen leading scholars of biblical poetry, it offers creative and insightful close readings of poems from across the canon of the Hebrew Bible Old Testament: Psalms, wisdom poetry, Song of Songs, prophecy, and poetry in biblical narrative. The essays build on recent advances in our understanding of biblical poetry and engage a variety of theoretical perspectives and current trends in the study of literature. They demonstrate the rewards of careful attention to textual detail and they provide models of the practice of close reading for students, scholars, and general readers. They also highlight the rich aesthetic value of the biblical poetic corpus and offer reflection on the nature of poetry itself as a meaningful and enduring form of art.

My Beloved Had a Vineyard Ryan P. Harper, 2018 Winner of Prize Americana. Ryan Harper's poetry collection My Beloved Had a Vineyard travels through America to remind us who we are and where we come from. Filled with midnight and apple orchards and mountain valleys, his poems surprise and delight with magical ease.
