Virtual Art:

Digital Arts Cat Hope, John Charles Ryan, 2014-06-19 Digital Arts presents an introduction to new media art through key debates and theories The volume begins with the historical contexts of the digital arts discusses contemporary forms and concludes with current and future trends in distribution and archival processes Considering the imperative of artists to adopt new technologies the chapters of the book progressively present a study of the impact of the digital on art as well as the exhibition distribution and archiving of artworks Alongside case studies that illustrate contemporary research in the fields of digital arts reflections and questions provide opportunities for readers to explore relevant terms theories and examples Consistent with the other volumes in the New Media series a bullet point summary and a further reading section enhance the introductory focus of each chapter

Movement, Time, Technology, and Art Christina Chau, 2017-06-12 This book explores the ways in which artists use technology to create different perceptions of time in art in order to reflect on contemporary relationships to technology By considering the links between technology movement and contemporary art the book explores changing relationship between temporality in art art history media art theory modernity contemporary art and digital art This book challenges the dominant view that kinetic art is an antiquated artistic experiment and considers the changing perception of kinetic art by focusing on exhibitions and institutions that have recently challenged the notion of kinetic art as a marginalised and forgotten artistic experiment with mechanical media This is achieved by deconstructing Frank Popper's argument that kinetic art is a precursor to subsequent explorations in the intersections between art science and technology Rather than pandering to the prevailing art historical assumption that kinetic sculpture is merely a precursor to art in a digital culture the book proposes that perhaps kineticism succeeded too well where movement has become a ubiquitous element of the aesthetic of contemporary art If as Boris Groys has recently suggested installation has become the dominant mode of art in the contemporary age then movement in real time with the viewer is used to aestheticise and explore the facets of our peculiar time

Virtual Art Oliver Grau, 2004-09-17 An overview of the art historical antecedents to virtual reality and the impact of virtual reality on contemporary conceptions of art Although many people view virtual reality as a totally new phenomenon it has its foundations in an unrecognized history of immersive images Indeed the search for illusionary visual space can be traced back to antiquity In this book Oliver Grau shows how virtual art fits into the art history of illusion and immersion He describes the metamorphosis of the concepts of art and the image and relates those concepts to interactive art interface design agents telepresence and image evolution Grau retells art history as media history helping us to understand the phenomenon of virtual reality beyond the hype Grau shows how each epoch used the technical means available to produce maximum illusion He discusses frescoes such as those in the Villa dei Misteri in Pompeii and the gardens of the Villa Livia near Prima Porta Renaissance and Baroque illusion spaces and panoramas which were the most developed form of illusion achieved through traditional methods of painting and the mass image medium before film Through a detailed analysis of perhaps the most important German panorama Anton von Werner's 1883 The Battle of Sedan Grau shows how immersion produced emotional responses He traces immersive cinema through Cinerama Sensorama Expanded Cinema 3 D Omnimax and IMAX and the head mounted display with its military origins He also examines those characteristics of virtual reality that distinguish it from earlier forms of illusionary art His analysis draws on the work of contemporary artists and groups ART COM Maurice Benayoun Charlotte Davies Monika Fleischmann Ken Goldberg Agnes Hegedues Eduardo Kac Knowbotic Research Laurent Mignonneau Michael Naimark Simon Penny Daniela Plewe Paul Sermon Jeffrey Shaw Karl Sims Christa Sommerer and Wolfgang Strauss Grau offers not just a history of illusionary space but also a theoretical framework for analyzing its phenomenologies functions and strategies throughout history and into the future
