By the time American schoolchildren get Jack and Jill up that hill Soviet children of the same age will probably be discussing the hill's altitude mineral deposits and geo political role in world affairs This profoundly disturbing book is a comparison of American and Soviet school curricula and textbooks It proves that the sciences and mathematics are not the only subjects in which our children lag behind By the time the American fourth grader has learned to read 1500 words from his typical classroom reader a Soviet student in fourth grade will be expected to read at least 10 000 words and will be ready to plunge into history geography and science Why does Ivan at the age of nine have a reading vocabulary so much larger than Johnny's Could it have anything to do with the fact that from his first reader on Ivan reads Tolstoy and Pushkin and Gogol while Johnny follows the adventures of Jerry and the little rabbit that goes hop hop hop If a Soviet student undertakes to learn English as his foreign language as 45 per cent of those in the regular school do he will study it for six consecutive years starting in the fifth grade and he may well have read more literature in English by the Tenth grade than an American student will have been assigned by the twelfth grade The cold harsh facts are presented in contrasting programs of study and textbook selections covering reading lessons literature foreign languages history and geography Tables of contents from actual Soviet and American school books appear side by side at the end of various chapters Here for the first time is a fascinating report on the approaches used in Soviet schools which tells us how and what children under communism are being taught today to prepare them for the world leadership tomorrow The authors offer suggestion on how we can strengthen our schools to meet the Soviet challenge and fulfill our obligations to our children No citizen parent educator or just plain taxpayer can afford not to read it

At the height of the Cold War dozens of radical and progressive writers illustrators editors librarians booksellers and teachers cooperated to create and disseminate children's books that challenged the status quo Learning from the Left provides the first historic overview of their work Spanning from the 1920s when both children's book publishing and American Communism were becoming significant on the American scene to the late 1960s when youth who had been raised on many of the books in this study unequivocally rejected the values of the Cold War Learning from the Left shows how radical values and ideas that have now become mainstream including cooperation interracial friendship critical thinking the dignity of labor feminism and the history of marginalized people were communicated to children in repressive times A range of popular and critically acclaimed children's books many by former teachers and others who had been blacklisted because of their political beliefs made commonplace the ideas that McCarthyism tended to call subversive These books about history science and contemporary social conditions as well as imaginative works science fiction and popular girls mystery series were readily available to children most could be found in public and school libraries and some could even be purchased in classrooms through book clubs that catered to educational audiences Drawing upon extensive interviews archival research and hundreds of children s books published from the 1920s through the 1970s Learning from the Left offers a history of the children s book in light of the history of the history of the Left and a new perspective on the links between the Old Left of the 1930s and the New Left of the 1960s Winner of the Grace Abbott Book Prize of the Society for the History of Children and Youth
