The Last Colonial Massacre Greg Grandin, 2011-07-30 After decades of bloodshed and political terror many lament the rise of the left in Latin America Since the triumph of Castro politicians and historians have accused the left there of rejecting democracy embracing communist totalitarianism and prompting both revolutionary violence and a right wing backlash Through unprecedented archival research and gripping personal testimonies Greg Grandin powerfully challenges these views in this classic work In doing so he uncovers the hidden history of the Latin American Cold War of hidebound reactionaries holding on to their power and privilege of Mayan Marxists blending indigenous notions of justice with universal ideas of equality and of a United States supporting new styles of state terror throughout the region With Guatemala as his case study Grandin argues that the Latin American Cold War was a struggle not between political liberalism and Soviet communism but two visions of democracy one vibrant and egalitarian the other tepid and unequal and that the conflict's main effect was to eliminate homegrown notions of social democracy Updated with a new preface by the author and an interview with Naomi Klein The Last Colonial Massacre is history of the highest order a work that will dramatically recast our understanding of Latin American politics and the role of the United States in the Cold War and beyond This work admirably explains the process in which hopes of democracy were brutally repressed in Guatemala and its people experienced a civil war lasting for half a century International History Review A richly detailed humane and passionately subversive portrait of inspiring reformers tragically redefined by the Cold War as enemies of the state Journal of American History

Obsolete Empire Philip Tsang, 2021-11-02 Modernist literature at the end of the British empire challenges conventional notions of homeland heritage and community Finalist of the MSA First Book Prize by The Modernist Studies Association The waning British empire left behind an abundance of material relics and an inventory of feelings not easily relinquished In The Obsolete Empire Philip Tsang brings together an unusual constellation of writers Henry James James Joyce Doris Lessing and V S Naipaul to trace an aesthetics of frustrated attachment that emerged in the wake of imperial decline Caught between an expansive Britishness and an exclusive Englishness these writers explored what it meant to belong to an empire that did not belong to them Thanks to their voracious reading of English fiction and poetry in their formative years all of these writers experienced a richly textured world with which they deeply identified but from which they felt excluded The literary England they imagined frozen in time and out of place with the realities of imperial decline in turn figures in their writings as a repository of unconsummated attachments contradictory desires and belated exchanges Their works arrest the linear progression from colonial to postcolonial from empire to nation and from subject to citizen Drawing on a rich body of scholarship on affect and temporality Tsang demonstrates how the British empire endures as a structure of desire that outlived its political lifespan By showing how literary reading sets in motion a tense interplay of intimacy and exclusion Tsang investigates a unique mode of belonging arising from the predicament of being conscripted into a global empire but not desired as its proper citizen Ultimately The Obsolete Empire asks What does it mean to be inside or outside any given culture How do large scale geopolitical changes play out at the level of cultural attachment and political belonging How does literary reading establish or unsettle narratives of who we are These questions preoccupied writers across Britain's former empire and continue to resonate today The Oxford History of the Novel in English Patrick Parrinder, 2011 This series presents a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction and written by an international team of scholars dust jacket In from the Cold Gilbert M. Joseph, Daniela Spenser, 2008-01-11 Reexamines the Cold War in Latin America by shifting the focus away from superpower decision making and exploring the many ways in which Latin American leaders and ordinary people used manipulated shaped and were victimized by the Cold War Warfare and Tracking in Africa, 1952-1990 Timothy J Stapleton, 2015-10-06 During the decolonization wars in East and Southern Africa tracking became increasingly valuable as a military tactic Drawing on archival research and interviews Stapleton presents a comparative study of the role of tracking in insurgency and counter insurgency across Kenya Zimbabwe and Namibia Out of the Shadow Julie Gibbings, Heather Vrana, 2020-07-20 Guatemala's Ten Years of Spring 1944-1954 began when citizens overthrew a military dictatorship and ushered in a remarkable period of social reform This decade of progressive policies ended abruptly when a coup d'état backed by the United States at the urging of the United Fruit Company deposed a democratically elected president and set the stage for a period of systematic human rights abuses that endured for generations Presenting the research of diverse anthropologists and historians Out of the Shadow offers a new examination of this pivotal chapter in Latin American history Marshaling information on regions that have been neglected by other scholars such as coastlines dominated by people of African descent the contributors describe an era when Guatemalan peasants Maya and non Maya alike embraced change became landowners themselves diversified agricultural production and fully engaged in electoral democracy Yet this volume also sheds light on the period s atrocities such as the US Public Health Service s medical experimentation on Guatemalans between 1946 and 1948 Rethinking institutional memories of the Cold War the book concludes by considering the process of translating memory into possibility among present day urban activists

Isaac Newton Phelps Stokes,1922 The Other Rebellion Eric Van Young,2002-04-01 Mexico s movement toward independence from Spain was a key episode in the dissolution of the great Spanish Empire and its accompanying armed conflict arguably the first great war of decolonization in the nineteenth century This book argues that in addition to being a war of national liberation the struggle was also an internal war pitting classes and ethnic groups against each other an intensely localized struggle by rural people especially Indians for the preservation of their communities While local and national elites focused their energies on wresting power from colonial authorities and building a new nation state rural people were often much more concerned about keeping village identities and lifeways intact against the forces of state expansion commercialization and modernization Conventional wisdom says that Mexican independence was achieved through a cross class and cross ethnic alliance between creole ideologues military leaders and a mass following This book shows that this is not only an incomplete explanation of what went on in Mexico during the decade of armed confrontation that led to Mexico s independence but also a distortion of Mexican social and cultural history The author delves deeply into life histories previously unexamined texts statistical social profiling and local historical ethnography to examine the dynamics of popular rebellion He focuses especially on Mexico s Indian villages but also considers the role of parish priests as insurgent leaders local conflicts over land politics and religious symbols the influence of messianism and millenarianism in popular insurgent ideology and the everyday language of political upheaval The Eagle ,1908 Press Reference Library (Southwest Ed.) ... ,1912 The American Historical Review John Franklin Jameson, Henry Eldridge Bourne, Robert Livingston Schuyler,1923 American Historical Review is the oldest scholarly journal of history in the United States and the largest in the world Published by the American Historical Association it covers all areas of historical research Engineering ,1905 The Parliamentarian ,1929 Tropical Agriculture ,1926 The Parliamentary Debates Great Britain.
