Teaching Academic EsL Writing:

Teaching Academic ESL Writing Eli Hinkel, 2003-10-17 Teaching Academic ESL Writing Practical Techniques in Vocabulary and Grammar fills an important gap in teacher professional preparation by focusing on the grammatical and lexical features that are essential for all ESL writing teachers and student writers to know. The fundamental assumption is that before students of English for academic purposes can begin to successfully produce academic writing they must have the foundations of language in place: the language tools grammar and vocabulary they need to build a text. This text offers a compendium of techniques for teaching writing grammar and lexis to second language learners that will help teachers effectively target specific problem areas of students writing. Based on the findings of current research including a large scale study of close to 1 500 non native speakers essays this book works with several sets of simple rules that collectively can make a noticeable and important difference in the quality of ESL students writing. The teaching strategies and techniques are based on a highly practical principle for efficiently and successfully maximizing learners language gains. Part I provides the background for the text and a sample of course curriculum guidelines to meet the learning needs of second language teachers of writing and second language writers. Parts II and III include the key elements of classroom teaching: what to teach and why, possible ways to teach the material in the classroom, common errors found in student prose and ways to teach students to avoid them, teaching activities and suggestions, and questions for discussion in a teacher training course. Appendices to chapters provide supplementary word and phrase lists, collocations, sentence chunks, and diagrams that teachers can use as needed. The book is designed as a text for courses that prepare teachers to work with post secondary EAP students and as a professional resource for teachers of students in EAP courses.

Academic writing in ESL composition classes - Academic discourse community Achim Zeidler,2009-03-13 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Other grade 1 West Virginia University language English abstract This paper discusses the concept of Academic Writing and the role of the importance in the ESL classroom

The different perspectives that have to be considered while teaching writing for an Academic purpose and some teaching approaches will be mentioned and evaluated. Thereby the focus will be on the different opinions and methods as well as constraints and problems that scholars investigated about the notion of Academic Writing. There are a lot of discussions and some research has recently tried to define how the particular and varied academic discourse communities have to be considered in the curriculum of ESL learners but still there is a lot of uncertainty of how effective classroom teaching in composition or content classes lead to a the demanded knowledge transformation that the ESL students need in order to fit successfully into a special academic field and write with respect to the expectations of that special audience. This paper tries to mention the most important articles and findings in order to understand the notion of Academic writing and examines some of the constraints students as well as teachers have to deal with and summarizes also some opportunities of making students aware of specific styles formats and conventions that are needed in their particular discourse communities and that can and should be involved in ESL composition and content classes with English for an academic purpose to achieve a desired participation in the higher educational level through fulfillment of the writing standards of educational and academical conventions and values of a particular discourse community. A working definition of Godev explains the notion of Academic writing. The term academic writing seems to escape any definition that may try to encompass every writing task likely to be encountered in any of the academic disciplines Godev 2000 636. The reason for this is that the style of a given academic product is defined by conventions that are ultimately discipline specific as Spack pointed out Spack 1988 32. Nevertheless there are four different perspectives that have to be considered to get a wider understanding of the term academic writing. The notions of a audience b task c communicative functions and d style are very crucial in order to conceive a working definition of academic writing. The four different perspectives have different views of and about academic writing. Gajdusek van Dommelen 1993 202 as well as Silva 1991 stated that from the perspective of the audience academic writing is a kind of writing accepted by the faculty of a particular discourse community when discussing a topic in a published material or when the members of the special discourse community address themselves to others of the same one orally. Silva explained the notion of audience a little bit more explicit. His definition of audience says that academic writing is prose that will be acceptable at an American academic institution. Understanding ESL Writers Ilona Leki, 1992. Understanding ESL Writers A Guide for Teachers responds to the overwhelming concern non ESL faculty have expressed with the influx of ESL students into their classes. University of Hawaii Working Papers in ESL, 1998.
