The Ultra Secret Frederick William Winterbotham CBE, 2025-08-30 In April 1940 when British cryptographers at Bletchley Park decrypted some German air force messages Group Captain Frederick Winterbotham recognized the potential of such intelligence and established a secure system to handle it He created Special Liaison Units small teams of RAF officers and enlisted men to receive and securely distribute decrypted Ultra messages to relevant commanders These messages transmitted through encrypted radio signals were kept highly classified with recipients unaware of their origins Winterbotham's units played a critical role in key moments during the war His selected intercepts provided early insights into the French collapse during the Battle of France and proved crucial in the Battle of Britain North Africa El Alamein and the D Day invasion The Ultra intelligence was vital for informing Allied military decisions with Winston Churchill receiving urgent messages directly via a secure phone line By 1944 the system was highly efficient delivering time sensitive information such as the rapid intelligence on the German evacuation of the Casino line in Italy Winterbotham also analyzed the surprise of the 1944-45 Ardennes Offensive noting that the absence of German signals should have raised alarms Winterbotham's first hand account of the Enigma program offers an unmatched perspective on its strategic importance

Vigilance Is Not Enough Mark M. Revealing the Ultra Secret ,1977 We really should not have been greatly surprised When Group Captain Colonel F W Winterbotham s work The Ultra Secret burst on our consciousness in 1974 it undoubtedly produced the most sweeping sensation thus far created by an historical revelation It was sweeping especially in the sense of seeming to demand immediate and wholesale revision of historical assumptions about virtually all that determined the course of World War II in the Atlantic sector It astonishes one to reflect on how little speculation there had been hitherto about the extent of code breaking on the part of the Western Allies and how few pressures there had been on governments to answer perplexing questions That there were stories to be gained from reluctant authorities had of course been noted Historians knew something about the remarkable Enigma machines developed by the Germans Churchill had referred to them in his monumental work on the war period and here and there a book or an article usually in some French or German journal went so far as to claim that there had been successful intercepts and decipherments and that these had much to do with one or another turn of the war Usually such writings mixed claims of this kind with other sensational items of doubtful authenticity so the ULTRA story was discounted with the rest No one paid it much attention Hitler's Japanese Confidant Carl
