What The Censor Saw:

What the Censor Saw John Trevelyan,1973 What the Censor Saw Clair Haydn Bell, British Cinema of the 1950s Sue Harper,Vincent Porter,2003-09-11 In this definitive and long awaited history of 1950s British cinema Sue Harper and Vincent Porter draw extensively on previously unknown archive material to chart the growing rejection of post war deference by both film makers and cinema audiences Competition from television and successive changes in government policy all forced the production industry to become more market sensitive The films produced by Rank and Ealing many of which harked back to wartime structures of feeling were challenged by those backed by Anglo Amalgamated and Hammer The latter knew how to address the rebellious feelings and growing sexual discontents of a new generation of consumers Even the British Board of Film Censors had to adopt a more liberal attitude The collapse of the studio system also meant that the screenwriters and the art directors had to cede creative control to a new generation of independent producers and film directors Harper and Porter explore the effects of these social cultural industrial and economic changes on 1950s British cinema Love Now, Pay Later? Nigel Yates,2011-01-01 Nigel Yates brings together the religious and social dimensions of the 1950s and 60s and examines the enormous changes in moral attitudes that took place in these two decades Much of the popular literature on post war Britain tends to present the 1950s as a period of continuing repression and respectability in the area of private and public morality and the 1960s as one in which there was rapid social change Using a wide range of contemporary sources books including novels magazines newspapers advertising fashion catalogues films and television as well as a number of significant archive collections Nigel Yates argues that changes in attitudes to religion and morality in the 1960s were only made possible by developments in the 1950s Behind the Scenes at the BBFC Edward Lamberti,2019-07-25 This official history of the British Board of Film Classification BBFC draws on unprecedented access to the BBFC s archives to trace 100 years of film classification with contributions from leading film critics and historians and case studies of controversial films such as Battleship Potemkin and A Clockwork Orange University of California Chronicle University of California, Berkeley,1920 University of California Chronicle ,1919 University Lectures Delivered by Members of the Faculty in the Free Public Lecture Course University of Pennsylvania,1921 Report Commonwealth Shipping Committee,1909 Report from the Joint Select Committee of the House of Lords and the House of Commons on the Stage Plays (Censorship) Great Britain.
