Cooking and Coping Among the Cacti Roberta D. Baer,2014-05-01 Using data collected from 105 households in Sonora Mexico the author combines detailed ethnographic research with quantitative analyses of income diet and nutritional status to examine the dietary patterns of residents who cook and cope among the cacti Employing a new analytical concept of available income which can differ greatly from total income and provide valuable insight into why people eat what they do the work explores a variety of social and cultural factors that affect food expenditure and consumption Home production of food and the extent to which women are employed outside of the home are just two of the many variables discussed that influence available income and how it is used But even among groups with similar available incomes variables of ethnicity prestige nutritional knowledge and the desire for consumer goods come into play

The Nutrient-Dense Eating Plan Douglas L. Margel,2005 Nutrient dense eating refers to the nutritional quality of a food and to the highly concentrated vitally important foods eaten on the plan They are the opposite of empty calorie foods that eventually degrade health and lead to debilitating diseases says the author Douglas Margel He believes the dominant eating disorder of this culture is the ambivalent adversarial relationship people have with food and we should reconnect to ancestral wisdom and eat as if it really mattered
