Ross,Martin Brueckner,Marilyn Palmer,Wallea Eaglehawk,2019-11-28 Social workers are called upon to shift from a human centric bias to an ecological ethical sensibility by embracing love as integral to their justice mission and by extending the idea of social justice to include environmental and species justice This book presents the love ethic model as a way to do eco justice work using public campaigns research community arts practice and other nonviolent direct action strategies The model is premised on an active and ongoing commitment to the eco values of love eco justice and nonviolence for the purpose of upholding the public interest The love ethic model is informed by the stories of eco activists who used nonviolent actions to address ecological issues such as pollution degradation of the environment exploitation of farm animals mining industry overriding First Nation Peoples land rights and human health and social costs related to the natural resource industries private land developments and government infrastructure projects Informed by practice insights by activists from a range of eco justice concerns this innovative book provides new directions in social work and environmental studies involving transformational change leadership and dialogical group work between interest groups It should be considered essential
