what went wrong or what to do differently to help students learn It doesn't have to be this way Learning That Sticks helps you look inside that black box Bryan Goodwin and his coauthors unpack the cognitive science underlying research supported learning strategies so you can sequence them into experiences that challenge inspire and engage your students As a result you'll learn to teach with more intentionality understanding not just what to do but also when and why to do it By way of an easy to use six phase model of learning this book Analyzes how the brain reacts to stores and retrieves new information Helps you zoom out to understand the process of learning from beginning to end Helps you zoom in to see what's going on in students' minds during each phase Learning may be complicated but learning about learning doesn't have to be And to that end Learning That Sticks helps shine a light into all the black boxes in your classroom and make your practice the most powerful it can be This product is a copublication of ASCD and McREL

The Teaching Brain Vanessa Rodriguez, Michelle Fitzpatrick, 2011-05-10 A significant contribution to understanding the interaction among teachers students the environment and the content of learning Herbert Kohl education advocate and author What is at work in the mind of a five year old explaining the game of tag to a new friend What is going on in the head of a thirty five year old parent showing a first grader how to button a coat And what exactly is happening in the brain of a sixty five year old professor discussing statistics with a room full of graduate students While research about the nature and science of learning abounds shockingly few insights into how and why humans teach have emerged until now Countering the dated yet widely held presumption that teaching is simply the transfer of knowledge from one person to another The Teaching Brain weaves together scientific research and real life examples to show that teaching is a dynamic interaction and an evolutionary cognitive skill that develops from birth to adulthood With engaging accessible prose Harvard researcher Vanessa Rodriguez reveals what it actually takes to become an expert teacher At a time when all sides of the teaching debate tirelessly seek to define good teaching or even how to build a better teacher The Teaching Brain upends the misguided premises for how we measure the success of teachers A thoughtful analysis of current educational paradigms Rodriguez's case for altering pedagogy to match the fluctuating dynamic forces in the classroom is both convincing and steeped in common sense Publishers Weekly From Brain to Mind James E. Zull, 2023-07-03 Finalist for Foreword Magazine's 2011 Book of the Year With his knack for making science intelligible for the layman and his ability to illuminate scientific concepts through analogy and reference to personal experience James Zull offers the reader an engrossing and coherent introduction to what neuroscience can tell us about cognitive development through experience and its implications for education Stating that educational change is underway and that the time is ripe to recognize that the primary objective of education is to understand human learning and that all other objectives depend on achieving this understanding James Zull challenges the reader to focus on this purpose first for her or himself and then for those for whose learning they are responsible The book is addressed to all learners and educators to the reader as self educator embarked on the journey of lifelong learning to the reader as parent and to readers who are educators in schools or university settings as well as mentors and trainers in the workplace In this work James Zull presents cognitive development as a journey taken by the brain from an organ of organized cells blood vessels and chemicals at birth through its shaping by experience and environment into potentially to the most powerful and exquisite force in the universe the human mind Zull begins his journey with sensory motor learning and how that leads to discovery and discovery to emotion He then describes how deeper learning develops how symbolic systems such as language and numbers emerge as tools for thought how memory builds a knowledge base and how memory is then used to create ideas and solve problems Along the way he prompts us to think of new ways to shape educational experiences from early in life through adulthood informed by the insight that metacognition lies at the root of all learning At a time when we can expect to change jobs and careers frequently during our lifetime when technology is changing society at break neck speed and we have instant access to almost infinite information and opinion he argues that self knowledge awareness of how and why we think as we do and the ability to adapt and learn are critical to our survival as individuals and that the transformation of education in the light of all this and what neuroscience can tell us is a key element in future development of healthy and productive societies
