Creating High Performance Teams Ray Aldag,Loren Kuzuhara,2015-02-11 Creating High Performance Teams is an accessible and thorough new introduction to this key area of business education Written by teams experts Ray Aldag and Loren Kuzuhara this book provides students with both a firm grounding in the key concepts of the field and the practical tools to become successful team managers and members Built on a solid foundation of the most up to date research and theory chapters are packed with case studies real world examples tasks and discussion questions while a companion website supports the book with a wealth of useful resources for students team members and instructors Centered around an original model for high performance teams topics covered include Building and developing effective teams Managing diversity

Effective communication Team processes meetings performance management Dealing with change and team problems Current issues virtual teams globalization With its combined emphasis on principles and application interwoven with the tools topics and teams most relevant today Creating High Performance Teams is perfectly placed to equip upper level undergraduate and MBA students with the knowledge and skills necessary to take on teams in any situation Research Product - U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences ,1999 Evaluating Team Performance Interagency Advisory Group Committee on Performance Management and Recognition,2012-06-27 In September of 1992 the Interagency Advisory Group IAG Committee on Performance Management and Recognition established a working group of Federal agency representatives to research the issue of evaluating team performance This report and the accompanying annotated bibliography are the products of that working group After studying both public and private sector performance management systems the working group observed that a variety of approaches are used in interdependent work environments to assess team performance These approaches fall along a continuum ranging from completely individual focused approaches to team and or organization focused approaches A graph and matrix which depict the four benchmark approaches or models are included on pages iii and iv The report begins with an introduction to the focus continuum and includes an overview of components of assessment systems that apply to all the models Detailed chapters follow for each model outlining the specific characteristics the optimum organizational environment the cost of implementation factors and the advantages and disadvantages along with some examples of each Model 1 represents an individual focused approach to planning and assessment in a team setting and begins the continuum This model is very similar to traditional types of evaluation which may currently be in place in many organizations since this model uses only individual performance measurements to determine the final rating of the employee At this point on the continuum even though teams have been introduced into the organization most work is still independent the culture of the organization is still centered around the individual teams may only be used occasionally or are very informal and or the climate and structure of the organization lends itself to individual planning assessment and recognition rather than team or group assessment and recognition Model 2 represents a shift along the continuum towards a more team oriented approach but still focuses on individual performance The Model 2 approach introduces an element into employees appraisals addressing the individual s contribution to the team This model as well as Models 3 and 4 is supportive of employee involvement and high performance initiatives as found in Total Quality Management Total Quality Leadership or other programs which use teamwork as a process to improve organizational performance This model can be appropriate for organizations where the nature of the work is a combination of independent and interdependent tasks but where the culture and environment focus on individual accomplishment This approach can also be a beginning and supportive incremental step toward the long term strategic goal of the organization to move from an individual focused culture to a team focused one The Model 3 approach represents an attempt to link team performance to individual performance by actually factoring the team's performance into the individual's performance rating. This is done by having at least one element of the individual's appraisal involve measurement of team performance: i.e. did the team meet its goals, did the team produce a quality product, does the team work well together. This approach may be used by organizations that use teamwork to accomplish a significant portion of the work that have well-developed teams or that for whatever reason want to enhance teamwork. Model 4 represents a completely organization-focused approach to planning and assessment as was practiced in the PACER SHARE demonstration project at McClellan Air Force Base in California and as promoted by Dr. W. Edwards Deming. This model lies at the end of the focus continuum with only the organization's performance evaluated.

A Review and Annotated Bibliography of the Literature Pertaining to Team and Small Group Performance (1989 to 1999) Andrew S. LaJoie, 1999. The military along with private industry is relying more on small teams of specialized individuals who work together to achieve a common goal. Examples of these teams include emergency medical teams, aircrews, decision-making teams, industrial project teams, Special Forces teams, weapon system crews, and everyday work teams. Training and military doctrine has been evolving to reflect this emphasis on teamwork. The purpose of this annotated bibliography is to review literature published over the last ten years concerning team and small group performance. Specifically, the articles reviewed in this report represent a sampling of the research published in the social sciences, including psychology, sociology, and business. The team and small group literature reviewed includes examples of the many types of teams mentioned earlier. A summary and integration of this work is provided. In general, the research suggests that there are several components which contribute to the successful performance of teams and that some of these components can be explicitly trained. Several training models are discussed.
