Race and the Politics of Deception Christopher Mele, 2017-01-10 What is the relationship between race and space and how do racial politics inform the organization and development of urban locales In Race and the Politics of Deception Christopher Mele unpacks America's history of dealing with racial problems through the inequitable use of public space Mele focuses on Chester Pennsylvania a small city comprised of primarily low income black residents roughly twenty miles south of Philadelphia Like many cities throughout the United States Chester is experiencing post industrial decline A development plan touted as a way to save the city proposes to turn one section into a desirable waterfront destination while leaving the rest of the struggling residents in fractured communities Dividing the city into spaces of tourism and consumption versus the everyday spaces of low income residents Mele argues segregates the community by creating a racialized divide While these development plans are described as socially inclusive and economically revitalizing Mele asserts that political leaders and real estate developers intentionally exclude certain types of people most often low income people of color Race and the Politics of Deception provides a revealing look at how our ever changing landscape is being strategically divided along lines of class and race

The Mixed Marriage Project Dorothy Roberts, 2026-02-10 From Dorothy Roberts author of Killing the Black Body and a writer who has brilliantly illuminated the Black experience in America for decades Bryan Stevenson comes a spirited and riveting memoir of growing up in an interracial family in 1960s Chicago and a daughter's journey to understand her parents marriage and her own identity Dorothy Roberts grew up in a deeply segregated Chicago of the 1960s where relationships barely crossed the colorline Yet inside her own home where her father was white and her mother a Black Jamaican immigrant interracial marriage wasn't just a part of her upbringing it was a shared mission Her father an anthropologist spent her entire childhood working on a book about Black white marriages a project he never finished but shaped every aspect of their family life As a 21 year old graduate student Dorothy's father dedicated himself to the study of interracial marriage and her mother soon became his full time partner in that work Together over the years they interviewed over 500 couples and assembled stunning stories about interracial marriages that took place as early as the 1880s studying but also living championing and believing in their power to advance social equality Decades later while sorting through her father's papers Roberts uncovers a truth that upends everything she thought she knew about her family her father's research didn't begin with her parents love story it came long before it This discovery forces her to wrestle with her father's intentions her own views about interracial relationships and where she fits in that story Rather than finish the book her father never published Roberts immerses herself in their archive of interviews to trace the story of her parents and to better understand her own Though grounded in her parents research it's Roberts captivating storytelling that drives this memoir In following the arc of her parents interviews and marriage The Mixed Marriage Project invites us into the everyday lives of interracial couples in Chicago over four decades Along the way Roberts reflects on her own childhood as a Black girl with a white father and how those experiences shaped her into one of today's most prominent public thinkers and scholars on race Blurring the boundaries between the political and the personal between memoir and history The Mixed Marriage Project is a deeply moving meditation on family race identity and love
