The Discourse Of Self In Victorian Poetry:

The Discourse of Self in Victorian Poetry E. Warwick Slinn, 1991 This book places Victorian poetry within the context of a radical shift over the last 150 years in the key European model for human definition and experience from the metaphor of self to the metaphor of text In this innovative approach Warwick Slinn examines the continuities from Hegel to Derrida in order to explain the force and challenge poetry which disrupts the assumptions of idealist lyricism This book places Victorian poetry within the context of a radical shift over the last 150 years in the key European model for human definition and experience from the metaphor of self to the metaphor of text In this innovative approach Warwick Slinn examines the continuities from Hegel to Derrida in order to explain the force and challenge poetry which disrupts the assumptions of idealist lyricism

Interpreting Nightingales Jeni Williams, 1997-07-01 The poetic nightingale is so familiar it seems hardly to merit serious attention Yet its ubiquity is significant suggesting associations with erotic love pathos and art that cross culture and history This book examines the different nightingales of European literature starting with the Greek myth of Philomela the raped girl silenced by having her tongue cut out and then transformed into the bird whose name means poet poetry and nightingale simultaneously Moving from the classical to the Christian worlds Jeni Williams discusses nightingales and nature in the early church and sees the emergence of the figure as an emotive emblem of the aristocracy in mediaeval vernacular debate poetry Her final chapters use the nightingale and the myth to examine Elizabeth Barrett Browning's struggle for an active female voice in Victorian poetry

Tradition and the Poetics of Self in Nineteenth-Century Women's Poetry, 2021-11-01 Tradition and how far writers fit into or diverge from the demands of tradition is one of the most debated issues in literary discussion Gender however is not often part of discussions which depend on such questions at the decisiveness of the Modernist break with the Victorian period or whether Postmodernism makes tradition meaningless By contrast the very existence of a specifically female tradition is still an urgent subject of debate and it is clear that many nineteenth century women writers were troubled in their search for literary foremothers This autobiographical impetus can be located in the work of each of the poets discussed in Tradition and the Poetics of Self Nineteenth Century Women's Poetry Elizabeth Barrett Browning Caroline Bowles Southey

Emily Dickinson and Christina Rossetti An exploration of the self either in the abstract or in a more closely personal sense appears in a concern with the craft of poetry and the role of the poet in a teasing out of language as a marker of a personal encounter with the world in an adventurous play with genre and a rewriting of myth and in a bold confrontation with received notions of a woman's place Adventurousness marks the work of each of these poets and is a central focus of these essays

The Crisis of Action in Nineteenth-century English Literature Stefanie Markovits, 2006 We think of the nineteenth century as an active age the age of colonial expansion revolutions and railroads of great exploration and the Great Exhibition But in reading the works of Romantic and Victorian writers one notices a conflict what Stefanie Markovits terms a crisis of action In her book The Crisis of Action in Nineteenth Century English Literature Markovits maps out this conflict by focusing on four writers William Wordsworth Arthur Hugh Clough George Eliot and Henry James Each chapter offers a case study that demonstrates how specific historical contingencies including reaction to the French Revolution laissez faire economic practices changes in religious and scientific beliefs and shifts in women's roles made people in the period hypersensitive to the status of action and its literary correlative plot

BOOK JACKET Tennyson and Geology Michelle Geric, 2017-12-13 This book offers new interpretations of Tennyson's major poems along side contemporary geology and specifically Charles Lyell's Principles of Geology 1830 3 Employing various approaches from close readings of both the poetic and geological texts historical contextualisation and the application of Bakhtin's concept of dialogism the book demonstrates not only the significance of geology for Tennyson's poetry but the vital import of Tennyson's poetics in explicating the implications of geology for the nineteenth century and beyond Gender ideologies in The Princess 1847 are read via High Miller's geology while the writings of Lyell and other contemporary geologist comparative anatomists and language theorists are examined along side In Memoriam 1851 and Maud 1855 The book argues that Tennyson's experimentation with Lyell's geology produced a remarkable uniformitarian poetics that is best understood via Bakhtinian theory a poetics that reveals the seminal role methodologies in geology played in the development of divisions between science and culture and that also quite profoundly anticipates the crisis in language later associated with the linguistic turn of the twentieth century
