Cain

Trinidad Awakening:

The Trinidad Awakening Reinhard Sander, 1988-08-12 Sander presents a definitive thoroughly researched gracefully expressed study of literary activity in Trinidad in the 1930s and its literary cultural implications for West Indian literature in general In Caribbean literary studies Sander's work is pioneering in its drawing of successful links between cultural productions and historical realities The book's organization is clear and logical its accessibility enhanced by a well documented index Choice This is the first comprehensive history of the Trinidadian literature that paved the way for the emergence over the past forty years of many major West Indian literary works Sander contends that the sporadic nature of literary output in the island before the late 1920s can be explained in part as the consequence of Trinidad's linguistic diversity and its rapidly changing patterns of settlement Until 1797 Trinidad had been a Spanish colony with a large proportion of French speaking inhabitants and it was not until the end of the nineteenth century that English became more widely spoken The burst of creative activity in the late 1920s was related to the new ascendancy of English and the fact that the society had begun to resolve itself into well defined racial social and economic groupings

Warner Arundell Edward Lanzer Joseph, 2001 Of all the islands in the Caribbean Trinidad has experienced the most varied ethnocultural and linguistic history Its relatively brief period of plantation slavery and extent of racial mixing have generated a wide range of literary responses Previous examinations of Trinidad's literary roots have largely dismissed works written prior to 1920 The first work in the series is Warner Arundell the Adventures of a Creole originally published in 1838 This was the first novel set at least partly in Trinidad and possibly the first Caribbean novel in English This extremely well written novel provides a good read as it chronicles the adventures of Warner Arundell a white Creole of British descent born in Grenada and brought up in Antigua and Trinidad After being defrauded by lawyers he studies law in Venezuela and medicine in England then goes to seek his fortune After many adventures he is reunited with the coloured branch of his family and his Venezuelan love The originally published novel has been heavily annotated and the contextualized edition of the original text makes it useful to scholars The book is of particular interest to students and faculty of Caribbean literature

Nationalism and Identity Stefano Harney, 1996 The nation state of Trinidad and Tobago offers a unique case for the study of the forces and ideologies of nationalism This book reveals how this ethnically diverse nation 40% African origin 40-45% East Indian origin plus those of Syrian Chinese Portuguese French and English descent independent for less than forty years has provided fertile ground for the creative tension between the imagination of the writer in his or her search for a habitable text of identity and the official discourse on nationalism in Trinidad and Tobago This discourse has in turn been embedded in a struggle that propels the nation's story Following on from this background the study examines the changes and influences on the sense of nationalism and peoplehood caused by migration and the ethnicization of migrant communities in the metropolises

Nationalism and the Formation of Caribbean Literature L. Rosenberg, 2016-04-30 This book tells the story of how intellectuals in the English speaking Caribbean first created a distinctly Caribbean and national literature As traditionally told this story begins in the 1950s with the arrival and triumph of V S Naipaul George Lamming and their peers in the London literary scene However Afro Caribbeans were writing literature already in the 1840s as part of larger movements for political rights economic opportunity and social status Rosenberg offers a history of this first one hundred years of anglophone Caribbean literature and a critique of Caribbean literary studies that explains its neglect A historically contextualized study of both canonical and noncanonical writers this book makes the case that the few well known Caribbean writers from this earlier period Claude McKay Jean Rhys and C L R James participated in a larger Caribbean literary movement that directly contributed to the rise of nationalism in the region This movement reveals the prominence of Indian and other immigrant groups of feminism and of homosexuality in the formation of national literatures

Emigration and Caribbean Literature Malachi McIntosh, Wanna, 2016-04-29 During and after the two World Wars a cohort of Caribbean authors migrated to the UK and France Dissecting writers like Lamming C saire and Glissant McIntosh reveals how these Caribbean writers were pushed to represent themselves as authentic spokesmen for their people coming to represent the concerns of the emigrant intellectual community

Making Their Mark Spring Hermann, 2009-07-01 Discusses the inequality that still existed between blacks and whites around the world after slavery was abolished efforts by blacks to fight for their rights and African American involvement in war the arts music and sports

Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide

The Man who Ran Away and Other Stories of Trinidad in the 1920s and 1930s Alfred Hubert Mendes, 2006 Alfred H Mendes was a member of the Beacon group of writers in Trinidad in the 1930s and friend and colleague of C L R James and Ralph de Boissiere He was a prolific writer with a distinctive and engaging voice and he wrote a significant number of short stories many of which have never been published and most of which were written between 1920 and 1940 The Man Who Ran Away is a collection of twelve stories with an introduction and short glossary of Trinidadian Creole words and phrases The book is useful as a text for university literature courses with an introduction designed for students unfamiliar with Mendes s work but not so dauntingly academic as to discourage a general readership

international intellectuals These essays offer a fresh perspective on his life and writings Workable Plans for Wide-awake Churches Christian Fichthorne Reisner,1906 1956 and All that Keith Flett,2007 Through the Smoke of Budapest 50 Years On The February 2006 Conference of the London Socialist Historians Group was held at the Institute of Historical Research in central London one of a series of such conferences over the previous ten years Assembled were a modest group of academics and activists come to mark the 50th anniversary of the events of 1956 and to do so in a particular way Firstly by presenting new historical research on the questions under review rather than trotting out tired orthodoxies Secondly by linking historical inquiry to political activism It was queried why such a conference was held in February 2006 rather than in the autumn and the answer was a simple one To intervene historically in the debates of the year by setting a socialist historical agenda for doing so The opening plenary heard from Sami Ramidani an Iraqi exile now lecturing at a British University from Stan Newens who had been present at the protests in 1956 and from Nigel Wilmott the letters editor of the Guardian but here speaking about Hungary The flavour was one both of historical recall of the events of 1956 and of contemporary political parallels Indeed during this session news came through via text message that the left wing MP George Galloway had been detained in a Cairo jail overnight and an emergency protest called at the Egyptian Embassy for later in the day The next two sessions focused on the key moments of autumn 1956 Hungary and Suez but again with new research examining their wider significance Mike Haynes looks at the origins of the Hungarian revolt in terms of workplace politics while Anne Alexander reviews the impact that Suez had on Nasser's reputation within the Arab world and Arab nationalist politics In the afternoon there was a widening of the focus One session examined the impact of the events of 1956 on left wing organisation and in particular the orthodox Communist or Stalinist tradition Terry Brotherton took a fresh look at the impact of 1956 on the Communist Party of GB while Toby Abse focused on how the events of that year worked their way through in the largest of the Western European CPs the Italian Alan Woodward examined how the crisis of Stalinist politics opened new possibilities for libertarian left wing ideas The other focused on the rise of a new left as a result of the crisis of 1956 Paul Blackledge examined the development of the theory of socialist humanism by E P Thompson and others as an alternative to Stalinism Neil Davidson examined the ideas of a forgotten left wing thinker from this period Alisdair Macintyre while Christian Hogsberg reviewed the influence of an existing Trotskyist theorist CLR James around the events of 1956 Of course the conference could not hope to cover the huge range of possible historical issues arising from the 50th anniversary of 1956 The beginnings of the consumer society and the age of affluence the birth of youth culture and rock music British nuclear tests and the origins of CND and campaigns against the bomb the new theatre marked by look back in anger In an introduction the editor Keith Flett reviews some of these wider trends However the research agenda proposed by the conference was and remains an important one
