World At War Vols 1426:

Japanese War Crimes and Related Topics: A Guide to Records at the National Archives United States. National Archives and Records Administration, 2007. This finding aid will help researchers interested in Japanese war crimes war criminals and war crimes trials to navigate the vast holdings of the U S National Archives and Records Administration at College Park NARA. It will also be useful to anyone interested in military intelligence political diplomatic economic financial social and cultural activities in the Far East during 1931-1951 as well as to those searching for information regarding Allied prisoners of war the organization functions and activities of American and Allied agencies and the Japanese occupation of countries and the American occupation of Japan. While not aimed at researchers interested in the strategic and tactical military and naval history of the war in the Far East this finding aid may nevertheless be useful to those with such interests if only to identify record groups and series of records that may bear on those topics. This finding aid covers records from over twenty record groups and includes materials declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act of 2000 P L 106 567 as well as records that were never classified and those declassified before the passage of the Disclosure Act. Because the process of identifying declassifying accessioning and processing of records under the Act is taking place as this finding is being compiled late arriving records may not be identified in this finding aid. Researchers should consult the IWG Web site <http://www.archives.gov/iwg> for a complete and up to date list of records declassified under the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act. Federal agencies involved in the identification and declassification of relevant classified records ascertained that there were relatively few pertinent records that were still classified. Most relevant records were either never classified or were declassified decades before the Act and were already in NARA's custody. While this finding aid's coverage is broad it is not comprehensive. Researchers may find other relevant series of records within the record groups mentioned or not mentioned. Researchers are encouraged to use other finding aids and consult with NARA staff to locate records of interest. In addition the National Archives at College Park holds nontextual records such as still photographs and motion pictures that researchers may want to examine. Other NARA facilities hold many records and donated material related to World War II including records related to the subjects covered in this finding aid. This is particularly true of the Franklin D Roosevelt the Harry S Truman and the Dwight D Eisenhower. Think of archives as vast mountain ranges of records with the archivists guiding the expeditions. Explorations on familiar well trodden paths produce new perspectives when examined with fresh eyes and imagination.

Objects of Concern Jonathan F. Vance, 2011-11-01. Hockey magnate Conn Smythe Trudeau cabinet minister Gilles Lamontagne and the composer and former conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Sir Ernest MacMillan share something other than their fame they all have the dubious distinction of having been captured by the enemy during Canada's wars of the twentieth century. Like some 15 000 other Canadians Smythe Lamontagne and MacMillan experienced the bewilderment that accompanied the moment of capture the humiliation of being completely in the captor's power and the sense of stagnating in a backwater while the rest of the world moved forward From prison camps in Eire where POWs were allowed to keep pets and to be members of the local tennis clubs to camps in Japan where prisoners were often severely beaten systematically starved and overworked Canadian prisoners of war throughout the twentieth century have faced a variety of conditions and experiences But they did not fight their war alone and isolated On the home front many other people attempted to help them Against the backdrop of the POW experience Jonathan Vance provides the first comprehensive account of how the Canadian government and non governmental organizations such as the Red Cross have dealt with the problems of prisoners of war Beginning in the nineteenth century Vance traces the growth of Canadian interest in the plight of POWs He goes on to examine the measures taken to assist Canadian POWs during the two world wars and the Korean war The book focuses in particular on the campaigns to ship relief supplies to prison camps and on attempts to secure the prisoners release POWs have sometimes been seen as forgotten casualties whose privations were misunderstood during war and whose needs were neglected afterwards This perception developed out of a tradition in POW memoirs which paid little attention to the efforts of politicians civil servants and individuals who devoted considerable time and energy to their cause Vance argues that this impression is wrong and that in fact every effort was made to ameliorate conditions for men and women in captivity In his book he outlines the difficulties and confusion that arose from jurisdictional squabbling and lack of clear communication Ironically Vance concludes obstacles were more often created by an overabundance of enthusiasm than by a lack of interest in the prisoners fate Canada s wartime bureaucracy often praised by historians is revealed as needlessly complex and in many ways hopelessly inefficient In Objects of Concern Jonathan Vance examines Canada s role in the formation of an important aspect of international law traces the growth and activities of a number of national and local philanthropic agencies and recounts the efforts of ex prisoners to secure compensation for the long term effects of captivity In doing so he reminds Canadians of an aspect of war that has often been overlooked in conventional military history The
