Gary Hack, Roger Simmonds

World Cities In A World System:

World Cities in a World-System Paul L. Knox, Peter James Taylor, Peter J. Taylor, 1995-07-06 Cities such as New York Tokyo and London are the centres of transnational corporate headquarters of international finance transnational institutions and telecommunications They are the dominant loci in the contemporary world economy and the influence of a relatively small number of cities within world affairs has been a feature of the shift from an international to a more global economy which took place during the 1970s and 1980s This book brings together the leading researchers in the field to write seventeen original essays which cover both the theoretical and practical issues involved They examine the nature of world cities and their demands as special places in need of specific urban policies the relationship between world cities within global networks of economic flows and the relationship between world city research and world systems analysis and other theoretical frameworks

Science Journal ,1997 The World's Advance ,1914 Planning in a Global Era Andy Thornley,Yvonne Rydin,2002
Globalization was the buzzword of the last decade Advances in communication technology computing and air travel clearly have a significance on planning an activity which has been concerned with controlling and shaping the use of space This outstanding volume brings together contributions from across the world in order to address some of the questions that arise from such global changes The World's Markets ,1923 Globalization and the Sustainability of Cities in the Asia Pacific Region Fu-chen Lo,Peter Marcotullio,2001 This collection of essays examines the sustainability concerns surrounding social and environmental conditions in the major cities of the Asia Pacific region Issues considered include globalisation foreign direct investment international migration and the changing pattern of cities The second part of the book focuses on particular types of cities with case studies post industrial capital exporting cities such as Tokyo and Seoul borderless cities such as Hong Kong and Singapore industrial cities such as Shanghai and Bangkok and amenity cities such as Sydney State of the World ,1991 New Regional Development Paradigms: Globalization and the new regional development Asfaw Kumssa,T. G. McGee,2001 The era of globalization is creating profound changes in global relationships changes that are manifest at international regional national and sub national levels making traditional regional development policy obsolete and irrelevant Traditional policy needs to be redefined and reconstructed so it can capture and articulate emerging regional trends and issues The first of four volumes based mainly on Global Forum on Regional Development Policy organized by the United Nations Centre for Regional Development in Nagoya Japan this book presents a broad theoretical and trend analysis of globalization and its effects on the theory and practice of regional development The book lays out the major components that merit consideration if there is to be new regional planning in this millennium While contributors to the volume do not agree on the effects of globalization on economic growth there is a consensus in the volume that globalization presents a challenge to conventional development theories The challenge for regional planners is to examine the impact and implications of recent structural changes on regional development planning and come up with viable and pragmatic regional development strategies This volume begins to meet that challenge by laying out the major components that merit consideration The following volumes will present detailed case studies of current regional planning practices focusing largely on developing countries The Electrical Engineer ,1905
