World Food Outlook:

Food Outlook - Biannual report on global food markets Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2024-06-13
FAO's latest forecasts point to increased production and higher stocks for several basic foodstuffs. However, global food production remains susceptible to shocks arising from weather conditions, geopolitical tensions, and policies. These factors could disrupt the delicate balance between supply and demand, impacting global food security. Issued twice a year, the June issue of the Food Outlook offers FAO's reviews of market supply and demand trends for the world's major foodstuffs, namely cereals, oilcrops, sugar, meat, dairy, and fish. It also looks at trends in food import bills, Ocean freight rates, international food prices, and futures markets. The Markets and Trade Division of FAO, as part of the Global Information and Early Warning System (GIEWS), produces and publishes the Food Outlook to enhance transparency in global food markets. Concerning global cereal markets, the Food Outlook maintains a close synergy with the quarterly GIEWS publication, Crop Prospects and Food Situation. Food Outlook is available in English. The summary section is available in Arabic, Chinese, French, Russian, and Spanish. In view of the soaring input prices, concerns about the weather, and increased market uncertainties stemming from the war in Ukraine, FAO's latest forecasts point to a likely tightening of food markets in 2022. Meanwhile, the global food import bill is on course to hit a new record high of USD 1.8 trillion, an all-time high almost entirely on account of higher prices. Issued twice a year, Food Outlook offers FAO's reviews of market supply and demand trends for the world's major foodstuffs, including cereals, oilcrops, sugar, meat, and dairy, and fish. It also looks at trends in futures markets and shipping costs for food commodities. The new edition also contains two special chapters examining the role of rising prices for agricultural inputs, such as fuel and fertilizers, and the risks the war in Ukraine poses for global food commodity markets. Food Outlook is published by the Markets and Trade Division of FAO, as part of the Global Information and Early Warning System (GIEWS). Food Outlook maintains a close synergy with another major GIEWS publication, Crop Prospects and Food Situation, especially with regard to the coverage of cereals. Food Outlook is available in English. The summary section is also available in Arabic, Chinese, French, Russian, and Spanish. Food Outlook - Biannual Report on Global Food Markets Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2021-06-10 Against the background of fast expanding trade and a surge in food import bills which has come to characterise much of developments shaping global food markets in 2020 21 early forecasts for 2021 22 point to resilient food trade and a continuation of strong international prices amidst many supply and demand uncertainties This report provides supply and demand forecasts for basic foodstuffs fish and fishery products along with price analysis and policy information The report s special feature of this report puts recent trends in global food trade under the spotlight with particular focus on how commodity flows have measured up during the COVID 19 pandemic Contrary to widespread predictions of a collapse in global markets recent data show that trade continues to reach new heights A novel metric is introduced that better captures the price momentum underway in international markets Food Outlook is published by the Markets and Trade Division of FAO as part of the Global Information and Early Warning System GIEWS It is a biannual publication November and June focusing on developments in global food markets Food Outlook maintains a close synergy with another major GIEWS publication Crop Prospects and Food Situation especially with regard to the coverage of cereals Food Outlook is available in English The summary section is also available in Arabic Chinese French Russian and Spanish

Food Outlook - Biannual Report on Global Food Markets Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-11-09 Food Outlook analyses trends and developments in the markets for cereals the oilseeds complex sugar meat dairy and fish products The November edition also offers a detailed analysis of the cassava markets and the protracted decline in international coffee prices An additional feature article analyses the recent conditions in the global markets for bananas and major tropical fruits where world trade is foreseen to surge by 18 percent from last year The outlook for global supplies of agricultural commodities in the 2018 19 marketing season remains broadly in line with earlier expectations While the weather had some impact on crop prospects the overall production at global level did not change significantly from the forecasts published in the July issue of Food Outlook Beyond weather induced revisions the latest FAO revisions take into consideration the mounting uncertainties regarding trade policies as well as the changes in exchange rates and rising energy prices

The World Food Outlook Donald O. Mitchell,Merlinda D. Ingco,Ronald C. Duncan,1997-03-06 There is no worldwide food crisis The authors of this volume show that the world food situation has improved dramatically over the past three decades prices of agricultural commodities are at their lowest level in history in real terms and crop output is continuing to rise faster than population This book provides a much needed and reasoned view on a subject that is too often treated emotionally The important changes in the international food economy are considered in historical context and provide a basis for projections to 2010

The Risk Pivot Bruce D. Jones, David Steven, 2014-11-21 The last decade has seen a revolution in global energy First we saw explosive growth in demand from Asia's rising powers which fueled fears about scarcity and conflict But we've also seen an American revolution in technology and markets resulting in a dramatic increase in supply This is strengthening America's hand in the world but it's not without complications There are major security consequences of these shifts Among the most consequential are China and India Asia's emerging giants which are increasingly exposed to political risks associated with energy risks as well as the energy flows pivoting to Asia Meanwhile the great powers struggle to balance their need for fossil fuels with a mounting effort to tackle climate change The top powers and the United States above all face a strategic choice whether to use energy as a weapon of geopolitics or as a tool of a stable order
