

A rustic wooden cabin with a garden of purple flowers. The cabin is made of weathered wood and has two windows. The garden is filled with large purple flowers, possibly hydrangeas, and green foliage. The scene is set in a lush, green environment with trees and vines growing on the cabin.

The Short Story Anthology and Women's Writing Alex Tura Vecino, 2025-08-14 Hundreds of anthologies of women's short stories have appeared in the literary market between the 1970s and now This publishing and cultural phenomenon is considered for the first time in this book which argues that during this period anthologies have become a literary technology used not only to make visible female short story writers but also to think about and mould ideas of womanhood Through creative and contextualised readings of the most important anthologies produced in this period this study shows that this literary form has contributed to and in some cases pioneered key developments in gender theory and feminist thought including questions of political combination among women which underlie contemporary global movements such as MeToo In doing so the book also develops the first book length conceptualisation of the features and meaning making mechanisms of the short story anthology as a literary form This book will benefit academics and students working in the fields of short fiction publishing and women's studies as well as feminist scholars and a growing number of specialists interested in the anthology as a literary form worldwide

The Garden, 1900 Green Desire Rebecca Weld Bushnell, 2018-07-05 For Rebecca Bushnell English gardening books tell a fascinating tale of the human love for plants and our will to make them do as we wish These books powerfully evoke the desires of gardeners they show us gardeners who like poets imagine not just what is but what should be In particular the earliest English garden books such as Thomas Hill's The Gardeners Labyrinth or Hugh Platt's Floraes Paradise mix magical practices with mundane recipes even when the authors insist that they rely completely on their own experience in these matters Like early modern books of secrets early gardening manuals often promise the reader power to alter the essential properties of plants to make the gillyflower double to change the lily s hue or to grow a cherry without a stone Green Desire describes the innovative design of the old manuals examining how writers and printers marketed them as fiction as well as practical advice for aspiring gardeners Along with this attention to the delights of reading it analyzes the strange dignity and pleasure of garden labor and the division of men s and women s roles in creating garden art The book ends by recounting the heated debate over how much people could do to create marvels in their own gardens For writers and readers alike these green desires inspired dreams of power and self improvement fantasies of beauty achieved without work and hopes for order in an unpredictable world not so different from the dreams of gardeners today

Machiavelli's Lawn Mark Crick,2011-03-03 Twelve great authors offer their top tips on gardening from Sylvia Plath s struggles with autumn bulbs to Pablo Neruda on pruning roses at the end of a romance In Brecht s mini opera a courageous mother s fight to protect her tender young potatoes from the army reveals the tragic consequences of a crop being harvested too soon On Zola s allotment a striking miner finds more brutal and perilous than anything he imagined at the coalface Carver s anti hero plants up a neglected hanging basket in a doomed attempt to repair his relationship with his wife And Brett Easton Ellis s brand obsessed hero drawn into the garden by the promise of carnage finds in horticulture the perfect outlet for his demons Inspired botanically accurate and utterly hilarious Machiavelli s Lawn will appeal to green fingered book lovers everywhere Garden & Home Builder William Tyler Miller,1913
