Writing Nature in Cold War American Literature Sarah Daw, 2018-08-23 First book length ecocritical study of Cold War American literature Compelling analyses of the function and representation of Nature in a wide range of Cold War fiction and poetry by authors including Paul Bowles J D Salinger Jack Kerouac Allen Ginsberg and Mary McCarthy reveals the prevalence of portrayals of Nature as an infinite interdependent system in American literature written between 1945 and 1971 Daw astutely highlights the Cold War's often overlooked role in environmental history and argues that Rachel Carson's Silent Spring 1962 can be considered as part of a trend of increasingly ecological depictions of Nature in literature written after 1945 By exploring the most recent developments in the field of ecocriticism the book is embedded within current ecocritical debates concerning the Anthropocene and anthropogenic climate change Key Features Contains five case studies of six Cold War writers Paul Bowles Peggy Pond Church J D Salinger Jack Kerouac Allen Ginsberg and Mary McCarthy Offers an in depth exploration of the influences behind each writer's presentation of Nature Shows the Cold War to be a time of seismic change in the human's relationship to the environment and demonstrates the degree to which this inflects Cold War literature Engages with the most recent developments in the field of ecocriticism which drive the study's analytical methodology and embed the book within current ecocritical debates

Writing Nature Sharon Cameron, 1989-01-15 At his death Henry Thoreau left the majority of his writing unpublished The bulk of this material is a journal that he kept for twenty four years Sharon Cameron's major claim is that this private work the Journal was Thoreau's primary work taking precedence over the books that he published in his lifetime Her controversial thesis views Thoreau's Journal as a composition that confounds the distinction between public and private the basis on which our conventional treatment of discourse depends

Nature Prose Dominic Head, 2022-08-15 Nature Prose seeks to explain the popularity and appeal of contemporary writing about nature This book intervenes in key areas of contemporary debate about literature and the environment and explores the enduring appeal of writing about nature during an ecological crisis Using a range of international examples with a focus on late twentieth and early twenty first century writing from Britain and the US Dominic Head argues that nature writing contains formal effects which encapsulate our current ecological dilemma and offer a fresh resource for critical thinking The environmental crisis has injected a fresh urgency into nature writing along with a new piquancy for those readers seeking solace in the nonhuman or for those looking to change their habits in the face of ecological catastrophe However behind this apparently strong match between the aims of nature writers and the desires of their readers there is also a shared mood of radical uncertainty and insecurity The treatment and construction of nature in contemporary imaginative prose reveals some significant paradoxes beneath its dominant moods moods which are usually earnest sometimes celebratory sometimes prophetic or cautionary It is in these paradoxical moments that the contemporary ecological crisis is formally encoded in a progressive development of ecological consciousness from the late 1950s onwards Nature prose fiction and nonfiction is now contemporaneous with a defining time of crisis while also being formally fashioned by that context This is a mode of writing that emerges in a world in crisis but which is also in some ways in crisis itself With chapters on remoteness exclusivity abundance and rarity this book marks a turning point in how literary criticism engages with nature writing

New England Nature David K. Leff, Eric D. Lehman, 2020-12-01 Since its founding four hundred years ago New England has been a vital source of nature writing Maybe it's the diversity of landscapes huddled so close together or the marriage of nature and culture in a relatively small six state region Maybe it's the regenerative powers of the ecosystem in a place of repeated exploitations Or maybe we have simply been thinking about our relationship with the natural world longer than everyone If all successive nature writing is a footnote to Henry David Thoreau then New England has a strong claim to being the birthplace of the genre But there are as the sixty entries in this anthology demonstrate many other regional voices that extol the wonders and beauty of the outdoors explore local ecology and call for environmental sustainability Between these covers Noah Webster calls for our stewardship of nature and Lydia Sigourney finds sublime pleasure in it Jonathan Edwards and Helen Keller both find miracles while Samuel Peters and Mark Twain find humor Author

Nathaniel Hawthorne discovers a place to hide his metaphors while the enslaved James Mars discovers an actual hiding place Through it all is the apprehension of a profound and lasting splendor the glory of physical nature as W E B Dubois calls it something beyond our everyday concerns and yet tied so closely to our daily lives that we cannot escape it Nature writing cultivates our sense of beauty inflaming curiosity and the passion to explore It opens us to deep primal experiences that enrich life Anyone wanting to understand our relationship with the world must start here Beyond Nature Writing : Expanding the Boundaries of Ecocriticism edited by Karla Armbruster and Kathleen R.
