Space Policy Alternatives:

Space Policy Alternatives Radford Byerly Jr.,2019-06-21 In 1989 I edited a somewhat similar group of essays published by Westview under the title Space Policy Reconsidered The preface to that volume began with this statement For some time space policy debate has been too constrained by pre existing assumptions and programs There is also a related need for a community of independent space policy analysts in order to inform those discussions The aim of this book is to take a step toward meeting such needs That statement is repeated here because it is still valid and this book is intended to address the same unmet needs

Space Policy Alternatives Radford Byerly,1992-09-09 A collection of essays on American space policy issues After examining existing space programmes and the context in which they exist the contributors suggest alternatives such as NASA s Earth Observing System and manned and unmanned programmes SPACE POLICY ALTERNATIVES. BYERLY, JR.,2019

Law and Policy in the Space Stations' Era Andrew Young,1989-05-16 This book addresses the policy implications for all current participants in the Space Station e Era Naturally cooperation on such scale engenders myriad legal difficulties This book divides its discussion of these into three parts dealing with a constitutional perspective of the treaty making process in the space field the optimum framework for management of the US International Space Station and a presentation of the range and complexity of the commercial issues involved The third part of the book deals with the macrocosm within which space station as specific suites of hardware must operate

Aerospace Agencies and Organizations George V. D'Angelo,1993-08-23 The book is an up to date and comprehensive description of the institutions involved in the aerospace field It discusses the activities of the main space powers the United Nations and other international organizations Without listing figures and budgets the author conveys a clear idea of the relative importance of those institutions The novelty of this work is that in bringing together national and international entities it explains how those organizations interrelate and coordinate their programs A complete picture emerges which is more than the sum of its parts The field of aerospace which depends heavily on government funding and direction has been particularly effected by the shifting alliances and recent financial troubles of the space powers In a book which is both comprehensive and simple to understand d Angelo has collected the many pieces of a complex institutional mosaic to draw a clear picture of the entire framework In addition to being up to date the book is also a novelty in the sense that it describes the work of both national and international entities and explains how those organizations interrelate and coordinate their programs Without making a list of figures and budgets d Angelo gives a clear idea of the relative weight of the various government activities

From the discussion of those activities the reader gains an understanding of the current state of affairs as well as future trends
