The Dynamics of Literary Response Norman Norwood Holland, 1968      The Dynamics of Literary Response Norman Norwood Holland, 1975      The Dynamics of Literary Response Norman N. Holland, 1989 Begins a series of theoretical discoveries about reading and writing intended to lead to a new kind of criticism Called theoretical criticism its goal is to look at literature from an acceptance of the relationship between the reader and the work      “The” Dynamics of Literary Response Norman Norwood Holland, 1975      The Dynamics of Literary Response Norman Norwood Holland, 1968

The Nature of Literary Response Clark McPhail, Norman Holland, 2017-09-20 In a rare fusion of literary sensibility with psychological research Norman N Holland brings to light important data showing how personality in the fullest sense of character development and identity affects the way in which we read and interpret literature This book will show that readers respond to literature in terms of their own lifestyle character personality or identity By such terms psychoanalytic writers mean an individual s characteristic way of dealing with the demands of outer and inner reality Each new experience develops the style while the pre existing style shapes each new experience The sub title of this book Five Readers Reading reflects the fact that the author a distinguished literary critic worked with five student readers using a battery of psychological tests and extensive interviews to study the ways they reacted to classic short stories by Faulkner Hemingway and others Combining his own interpretation of the stories with his understanding of the readers and their reactions Holland derives four principles that inform literary response He then goes on to show how these principles apply not just to literary response but to the way personality shapes any experience The book carries Holland s previous studies of creation and responsive recreation forward to a major theoretical statement He rejects the artificial idea that one must think of a text or other event as separate from its perceivers illustrating the dynamics by which perceiver and perceived mutually create an experience For critics and students of the psychology of human behavior this is challenging and seminal reading      The Nature of Literary Response Clark McPhail, 2017 In a rare fusion of literary sensibility with psychological research Norman N Holland brings to light important data showing how personality in the fullest sense of character development and identity affects the way in which we read and interpret literature This book will show that readers respond to literature in terms of their own lifestyle character personality or identity By such terms psychoanalytic writers mean an individual s characteristic way of dealing with the demands of outer and inner reality Each new experience develops the style while the pre existing style shapes each new experience The sub title of this book Five Readers Reading reflects the fact that the author a distinguished literary critic worked with five student readers using a battery of psychological tests and extensive interviews to study the ways they reacted to classic short stories by Faulkner Hemingway and others Combining his own interpretation of the stories with his understanding of the readers and their reactions Holland derives four principles that inform literary response He then goes on to show how these principles apply not just to literary response but to the way personality shapes any experience The book carries Holland's previous studies of creation and responsive recreation forward to a major theoretical statement He rejects the artificial idea that one must think of a text or other event as separate from its perceivers illustrating the dynamics by which perceiver and perceived mutually create an experience For critics and students of the psychology of human behavior this is challenging and seminal reading Provided by publisher The Nature of Literary Response, 2011 Originally published New Haven Yale University Press 1975 Readers and Reading Andrew Bennett, 2014-07-15 Much literary criticism focuses on literary producers and their products but an important part of such work considers the end user the reader It asks such questions as how far can the author condition the response of the reader and how much does the reader create the meaning of a text Dr Bennett's collection includes important essays from such writers and critics as Wolfgang Iser Mary Jacobus Roger Chartier Michel de Certeau Shoshana Felman Maurice Blanchot Paul de Man and Yves Bonnefoy It looks in turn at deconstructionist feminist new historicist and psychoanalytical response to the school The book then considers the act of reading itself discussing such issues as the uniqueness of any reading and the difficulties involved in its analysis Hermeneutic Desire and Critical Rewriting M. Cornis-Pope, 1991-12-01 Starting from a comprehensive examination of current poststructuralist and sociosemiotic theories of narrative this book formulates an interactive model of literary interpretation and pedagogy emphasising process critical self awareness and strategies of rereading rewriting A literary pedagogy premised on the concept of rewriting the author argues will enable readers to experience the process of narrative and critical construction creatively Private Readings/public Texts Kenneth Krauss, 1993 In this volume Kenneth Krauss maintains that if readers are to comprehend playscripts as plays they must imagine the theatre audience so vital to the staging of any script but conspicuously absent from the text itself Krauss examines what has been written about reading playscripts or playreading and proposes four possible ways founded on a reception oriented approach to theatre communication and spectator response that playreaders may construct a sense of theatre audiences The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics Michael Burke, 2017-11-27 The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics provides a comprehensive introduction and reference point to key areas in the field of stylistics The four sections of the volume encompass a wide range of approaches from classical rhetoric to cognitive neuroscience and cover core issues that include historical perspectives centring on rhetoric formalism and functionalism the elements of stylistic analysis that include the linguistic levels of foregrounding relevance theory conversation analysis narrative metaphor speech acts speech and thought presentation and point of view current areas of hot topic research such as cognitive poetics corpus stylistics and feminist critical stylistics emerging and future trends including the stylistics of multimodality creative writing hypertext fiction and neuroscience Each of the thirty two chapters provides an introduction to the subject an overview of the history of the topic an analysis of the main current and critical issues a section with recommendations for practice and a discussion of possible future trajectory of the subject This handbook includes chapters written by some of the leading stylistics scholars in the world today including Jean Boase Beier Joe Bray Michael Burke Beatrix Busse Ronald Carter Billy Clark Barbara Dancygier Catherine Emmott Charles Forceville Margaret Freeman Christiana Gregoriou Geoff Hall Patrick Colm Hogan Lesley Jeffries Marina Lambrou Michaela Mahlberg Rocio Montoro Nina N rgaard Dan Shen Michael Toolan and Sonia Zyngier The Routledge Handbook of Stylistics is essential reading for researchers postgraduates and undergraduate students working in this area

Empathy and the Novel Suzanne Keen,2007-04-19 Does empathy felt while reading fiction actually cultivate a sense of connection leading to altruistic actions on behalf of real others Empathy and the Novel presents a comprehensive account of the relationships among novel reading empathy and altruism Drawing on psychology narrative theory neuroscience literary history philosophy and recent scholarship in discourse processing Keen brings together resources and challenges for the literary study of empathy and the psychological study of fiction reading Empathy robustly enters into affective responses to fiction yet its role in shaping the behavior of emotional readers has been debated for three centuries Keen surveys these debates and illustrates the techniques that invite empathetic response She argues that the perception of fictiveness increases the likelihood of readers empathy in part by releasing them from the guarded responses necessitated by the demands of real others Narrative empathy is a strategy and subject of contemporary novelists from around the world writers who tacitly endorse the potential universality of human emotions when they call upon their readers empathy If narrative empathy is to be taken seriously Keen suggests then women s reading and responses to popular fiction occupy a central position in literary inquiry and cognitive literary studies should extend its range beyond canonical novels In short Keen s study extends the playing field for literature practitioners causing it to resemble more closely that wide open landscape inhabited by readers
