Writing for College and Beyond Life Lessons from the College Composition Classroom introduces the practical ways that the basic skills taught in the Freshman Composition course apply to the work place and in life

The composition class is a pre requisite and General Education course for most colleges and universities in the United States and reaches students in every area of study

As people wonder about the value of a liberal arts education and question whether colleges and universities are truly preparing students for the workforce

Writing for College and Beyond challenges those arguments by pointing out exactly how classroom policies and writing assignments apply beyond school walls

Professors lecturers and graduate students teaching Freshman Composition courses will find this book helpful

Also administrators who service the Freshman Composition population such as Writing Center Directors will also find Writing for College and Beyond Life Lessons from the College Composition Classroom a wonderful aid

Labor, Writing Technologies, and the Shaping of Composition in the Academy Pamela Takayoshi, Patricia Sullivan, 2007

The changing nature of the workforce and the increasing presence of technologies in composition studies promise to affect not only the ways we work but the very shape of the discipline

This volume takes on the challenge of thinking about the intersections of work technology and composition studies in ways that are unprecedented

These areas interact in numerous and significant ways yet the focus is often on the concepts in isolation from one another

Authors in this collection explore technology and labor issues across a range of institutional locations to focus on working as scholars administrators of writing programs writing across the curriculum programs assessment programs teachers workers held accountable to bureaucrats and gendered and raced workers and the future roles compositions will adopt in the university and how technology affects those identities

The chapters address the nature of composition labor in a technological society the new geographies of composition variety of identity and agency that are enabled and denied academic labor outside the classroom and academy and how virtuality impacts labor

They provide varied perspectives on what issues are of import and alert researchers and teachers that a serious consideration of labor and writing technologies are needed to expand notions of what composition studies can and
